Terrible Hatreds Kindled By 'Blood Revenge' Spirit

Rumors From Embattled Nations Hint of Plans For Organized Extermination of Enemy Peoples.

By BAUKHAGE
News Analyst and Commentator.

WNU Service, Union Trust Building,
Washington, D. C.
It was a soft, Washington spring afternoon. The late shifts of government workers were hurrying home. The two guardian magnolias that stand on the White House lawn were tipped with the rays of the setting sun. My thoughts were neither on this blissful scene nor on the latest news of the battlefield which I had just finished broadcasting. Frankly, I was concerned chiefly with dinner.

The announcer was just finishing the "commercial" and I was picking my hat up from the sofa in the studio when I saw the engineer beckoning to me from behind the glass wall of his goldfish bowl. He held up a paper on which was printed "Stop in News Room—Important!"
I did. The atmosphere was tense as it is frequently these days. A notice had just appeared on the news ticker to the effect that the White House was about to release an important statement.

It is possible, but not probable, that the thing we were all thinking that statement was going to announce but didn't, will happen before these lines reach print—the invasion of Europe. Until it does, we shall continue to expect it and while the busy home front keeps our nose pretty well to the grindstone, one hint from overseas and an atmosphere of suspense envelops the Capitol.

Secrecy's Curtain
Meanwhile, there is the feeling that tremendous things are happening under a heavy curtain of secrecy in Europe even the hint of which does not reach the press or the public.

Russia, of course, is a mystery.
What is happening there? Is the remarkable Red army, which in the past has seemed to be able to draw endless men and supplies from nowhere after each crushing defeat, finally exhausted? Spring came early to the steppes this year and the Germans, if they are able, will launch their annual summer offensive a month earlier. They hope to be able to break the Red army this time and then hold back the remnants with a sparsely manned but intricate line of defense while they turn their attention to the Allies in the West.

No one knows what the strength of Russia is today. One does know that a terrible hate has been enkind-ed in the whole race against the Germans and it is reported that the Red army has threatened that if Soviet forces ever do reach German soil, they will leave no human being living. One story has been spread through Switzerland that if an Allies' army is on the continent when Russia breaks Germany's eastern frontiers—if she does—that the Germans will open their western front to the Allies and let them in rather than expose themselves to the Russians.

Plan for Prisoners
Another report has seeped out of Russia. It is continuously repeated that simply because of the inconvenience of caring for prisoners, both the Germans and Russians have been shooting men who are captured or who surrender. On the other hand, the Russians are said to be carefully preserving some of the men they take. Russian propaganda, dropped over the German lines, is very alluring. Some of the pamphlets instruct the German soldiers to surrender and bring with them
the leaflet which acts as a passport.

Then, according to a report which has come in from a neutral country, the prisoners are carefully examined and a small percentage weeded out for Soviet indoctrination. They go through a long course of instruction so careful that it is said finally only 10 per cent are accepted as satisfactory. These elite are then trained to be used as the spearhead of a political invasion of Germany.

Hatred, like that in Russia, has poisoned all Europe. There is a belief now on the part of many of the conquered countries that the Germans, having given up hope of victory, intend to go forward with a systematic extermination of other races within their reach, as they have in Poland and with the Jews, so that regardless of what happens,
the Teutonic stock will dominate numerically when the war is over.

To meet this, the other nations are talking about turning the tables and beginning organized mass murder of Germans everywhere the moment the Nazi armies lay down their arms.

Only the other day, I talked with a widely traveled Russian newspaper man, who said frankly that he believed this was the proper course.
How powerful this spirit of blood revenge really is and whether it will be carried out, one can only guess.

Another mystery of which there are only tiny hints is the power and scope of the underground movements in the occupied countries and the extent to which Allied agents are now working hand-in-hand with the saboteurs in France and Belgium and particularly Holland. Hints leak out.

A secret German report which reached Allied hands stated the following:
"Sometime ago, English parachutists landed near Prague. When they were held up by the local police, they obeyed the order, 'hands up.'
But they carried a special device on their belts with a pistol from which cords ran to their hands. The latter fired the pistol. Thus they succeeded by a quick and appropriate movement in accounting for the policemen."

Here is a part of another enemy report, revealing the activities behind the lines. It came through Italian military channels:
"During the attack on the Fuka Aerodrome (Africa) the enemy Allied troops put up distress signals. They succeeded in enticing the sentries away from their posts for a time and successfully carried out their sabotage."
Reports have come of British saboteurs gaining entrance to factories in the daytime, planting time bombs and leaving. A device has been perfected which can be carried concealed in the hand—I have held one—attached by a clever means to a tank car or a locomotive, it would blow it to pieces. That is only one of hundreds of ingenious gadgets which have been perfected for this strange work of secret destruction that is going on everywhere. Even more ingenious are the methods which the underground organizations in France and Italy are using to obtain arms and supplies for the insurrection when the moment comes.

Some day, "an important statement from the White House" will come, heralding events many of which we have not even dreamed.

While the airplane factories turn out bombers and fighters, the air-minded leaders continue to make their air plans for peace. The latest scheme which has come to my attention is an announcement from the Northeast Airlines company which says this company has made application for a helicopter service to carry air mail and air express in New England.
These little planes that can rise straight up and hover, can land on a parlor rug. They would, in this proposed service, land on the roofs of post office buildings—provided,
I take it, that the buildings are not of the rococo vintage with peaked and pointed and turreted roofs.
The service would carry first-class as well as air mail, according to the application filed with the Civil Aeronautics board. Four hundred points would be included. The little "flying automobiles" would not only fly between towns and cities but would carry mail from urban centers to the large airports where the mail would be transferred to the air liners.

A national labor service act still hovers just beyond the horizon. The chief purpose of Manpower Commissioner McNutt's intricate plans, including shifts of men from nondeferrable industry to war work is to build the machinery so that when the act is passed it can be put into effect at once.
Now that the farm labor problem has been taken off McNutt's doorstep, and with the definite "back-to-the-farm" trend, congress may ease up on McNutt and give him the money he needs to build his pre-national service machinery.

BALKANS: Hitler Builds Fences

Even as Hungary was reported pulling 200,000 men out of Axis ranks on the Russian front, a Rome broadcast announced that Adolf Hitler in a move to strengthen his Mediterranean defenses had called in leaders of his Balkan satellites for conference.

The seemingly frank tone of the Rome broadcast, plus reports from neutral Spain and Sweden that German engineers were dissatisfied with defense works in the Balkans led observers to believe that the Axis was on a fishing expedition for clues to possible Allied invasion plans.

Commenting on a conference between Hitler and Rumania Premier Ion Antonescu, the Rome radio said: "The Fuehrer and the Marshal restated their decision to continue the fight against the enemies of Europe until unconditional victory has been achieved."

ARMY: Cuts Food Waste
Better planning by mess officers and co-operation by cooks and KPs has reduced the amount of food wasted at army camps by more than half since the beginning of the year, it was disclosed when testimony of a private hearing of the senate war investigating Truman committee was made public.

Before the army's conservation program was inaugurated as much as 20 to 25 per cent of the food served at camps was wasted. This wastage has now been reduced to about 11 per cent—a saving sufficient to feed a million civilians for a year.

Figures on the extent of army food conservation were presented by Maj. Gen. E. B. Gregory, quartermaster general. He told the committee that army food purchases had to be sufficient for an average of 2,100,000 men overseas and 4,500,- 000 men in this country during 1943.
He indicated that the average size of the army will be 6,600,000 this year.

PLAIN TALK:
Business Gets Lecture
Silver-thatched Commerce Secretary Jesse H. Jones gave business in general some of his native Texas
"plain talk" when he appeared as a speaker before the Committee for Economic Development in New York.

Pointing out that the nation cannot "indulge in another depression," but must pay the costs of this war which he said had been estimated at around 250 billion dollars, Jones said "the problem will be to provide jobs at a living wage for every person willing to work."

Business must form its own postwar plans and meet the problems ahead with its own practical solutions if it does not want the government to step in and do the planning for it.

RENTS:
No Boost Now Landlords and tenants were informed by the OPA that present rent regulations will be continued.
In rejecting rent control change proposals by the National Association of Real Estate Boards, the OPA ruled that any such changes would be in conflict with the President's orders "to hold the line" against inflation.

Commenting on the realtors' suggestions, Price Administrator Prentiss M. Brown said that "while the proposals do not explicitly request any general increase in the rent level, their adoption would clearly achieve such a request."

While the OPA is considering a few minor changes in its rent rules, Brown asserted that so far as the basic program is concerned, "I do not intend to alter either its method of administration."

DIES COMMITTEE
Although its publication was delayed a year because of an intra-committee split, the Dies committee's special report to congress on prewar Nazi espionage nevertheless served the purpose of further convincing the American people of the far-flung plans of the Axis for world domination.

More than five years ago, the report set forth, Hitler and his Nazi party had put into operation in this country a "sabotage system" for spreading Nazism.

WEEKLY NEWS ANALYSIS

OWI Predicts 6% Cut in Food Supply; Bombers Strafe Italian Supply Ports As Allies Close Axis Tunisia Trap; U. S. Promises MacArthur More Planes

(EDITOR'S NOTE: When opinions are expressed in these columns, they are those of Western Newspaper Union's news analysts and not necessarily of this newspaper.)
Released by Western Newspaper Union.

Typical of the harvest of Axis prisoners in the Tunisian campaign is this batch of German soldiers guarded by a lone British Tommy. They were taken in the early stages of the drive northward, after General Montgomery's Eighth army had shattered the Mareth line.

SOUTHWEST PACIFIC: Battle for Air Control

While Gen. Menryo Sato, chief of the Nipponese military affairs bureau in Tokyo threatened Jap air raids on the United States, enemy planes continuing a battle for control of the air over a wide area at the approaches to Australia mounted a 100-ship raid at Milne Bay,
New Guinea. Allied fighter planes, alert to the danger, shot 30 of the enemy raiders out of the sky.
Meanwhile, Allied air forces ranging over the vast battle area described by Gen. Douglas MacArthur as "our bomber line—the first line of Australian defense" attacked a Japanese convoy of six merchant ships and three warships approaching the enemy base at Wewak, 450 miles north of Port Moresby, New Guinea. Three of the merchantmen were hit, including two 8,000-ton and one 5,000-ton ships.

In answer to warnings from General MacArthur's headquarters of the increasing strength of Jap air, sea and land force concentrations threatening Australia, Secretary of War Stimson promised that enough planes would be sent to the South Pacific to counter the rising Jap power.

TUNISIA: 84 to 3

As the Allied armies closed in on the Axis' last mountain bastions in Tunisia, the gravity of Marshal Rommel's supply problem was shown by the heavy German reliance on aerial transport from Sicily.

That this supply problem would become even more critical was evident from two facts: 1—The Axis had lost all but three airports in Tunisia; 2—Rommel's thin supply line was being menacingly depleted by American Flying Fortress attacks.

Typical of the potency of the American aerial offensive was a raid on Axis rear bases at Castel-vetrano and Mila in Sicily in which 84 enemy planes were destroyed with the loss of but three American aircraft.

With the Mediterranean at their back, the forces of Rommel and Col.
Gen. Von Arnim were hemmed into an area less than the size of Connecticut in Northeast Tunisia. The Axis did, however, have the advantage of holding mountainous positions difficult for the Allies to storm.

The strongly fortified ports of Tunisia and Bizerte were the Allies' final goal. Operating under the supervision of Commander-in-Chief Gen.
Walter D. Eisenhower, the British army in the North, American and French forces in the center and General Montgomery's British army on the South steadily closed the trap on the Axis.

AIR RAIDS: Sardinia to Stuttgart

From Sardinia to East Prussia, Allied bombers struck at Axis-held Europe with increasing fierceness as the tempo of "softening up" raids continued to rise. British, American and Russian planes had simultaneously taken the offensive.

Among spectacular raids was the vast British foray against the big German industrial city of Stuttgart.
Observers reported that planes on this raid could be heard roaring across the British Channel toward the continent for an hour and a half.

Nazi radio broadcasts were the authority for reports that Red air forces had raided Koenigsburg in East Prussia three times within a five-day span.

American Flying Fortresses continued to destroy Axis shipping facilities with punishing attacks on the port of Cagliari in Sardinia.

TO YOUR Good Health

by DR. JAMES W. BARTON Released by Western Newspaper Union.

LIGHT EXERCISE

It is unfortunate that a couple of outstanding physicians should advise that exercise should not be taken by those past 40 years of age.

Dr. Barton

They were so opposed to exercise that they suggested that lifting the life finger unnecessarily might cause harm. Now these physicians had but the one thought in mind and that was to discourage those middle-aged individuals from taking exercise who thought that "strenuous" exercise was needed just as much, if not more, at middle age than for those under 40. The advice was given to prevent strain on heart and blood vessels. These physicians are aware that in the treatment of the middle aged or elderly of average health the last thing they would want them to do is to rest all the time, that is become bedridden. This is because the body needs to move itself to keep heart, food vessels, lungs, appetite, digestion and bowel movement normal. To rest all the time would lower the health mentally and physically.

I have in mind particularly those who are overweight and among the methods of getting rid of excess fat are already taking exercise or have been planning to take some exercise. As a matter of fact exercise is the "natural" way to reduce weight because it creates extra heat thus melting away the fat tissue which is inactive and developing muscle tissue which is active and heat creating when it is active.

"Exercise improves the circulation, sweeps away the stagnant waste materials which collect in the body, creates a sense of well-being which lasts for a long time afterward and burns fat."

The overweight individual because he is overweight does not like exercise as every movement of his body means that he must do much more work than of normal weight. But as he gradually removes the stored fat on his body and increases his muscular strength he gets a three-fold benefit—(a) removes excess fat, (b) increases his muscular strength and (c) because of this increased muscular strength loses his dislike for exercise. The fact that exercise shows easier to take, that he can feel himself becoming lighter and more "limber" makes exercise actually "inviting" to him.

Dried Foods Aid To Victory Effort

One of the things learned during the war which will mean health and happiness to many more thousands than have the war, is that water can be removed from food on one side of the ocean, the food shipped in a space many times smaller to the far side of the ocean, where by adding water to the amount previously removed makes the food as nutritious as when it was fresh.

London correspondent of the Journal of the American Medical Association states that research was carried on at the Low Temperature Research station, Cambridge, in co-operation with other institutions in Britain, and in the United States and dominions, has made possible the following beneficial results:

It is estimated that removing the water from foods, while maintaining their food value, has saved shipping the extent of 2,500,000 tons of water annually. A quart of milk has volume of 32 cubic inches and weighs 4 1/2 ounces. Condensed, it has volume of 27 cubic inches and weighs 1 3/4 ounces. Reduced to a powder, it has a volume of 1 1/2 inches and weighs 1/2 ounce. The powder compressed into a tablet has a volume of about 1/16 inch and weighs 1/16 ounce. The discovery that milk can be reduced to a small space makes the rich and summer milk available in the winter, when there is no pasture for cows and for long periods. This is of considerable value.

Artists will import 20,000 of dried eggs in 1943. It is one of egg work shipped in one way with water and shells of weight 20,000 tons and take away the amount of shipping. A similar saving is made by drying of dried corn. Another type of dried food is dried and is being refrigerated for use in the tropics.

Kaiser Appears Guilty Of Wasting 20 Minutes

The story about Mr. Henry Kaiser, who builds ships in record time—his shipyards are reported to have turned out 100 ships, each of 10,000 tons deadweight, in 422 days—is that he kept a group of Washington correspondents, with whom he had made an appointment, waiting for 20 minutes. When they asked how why he was so late, he replied that he had to wait half an hour for a taxi.

"Half an hour!" exclaimed one of the journalists. "Why on earth didn't you build one?"

Selfish Thought
"What are you thinking of?"
"Oh, nothing much!"
"Don't be so self-conscious."

Was He Surprised!
"Who was that pretty little thing I saw you with last night?"
"If you promise not to tell my wife?"
"Surely, I promise."
"If I tell, it was my wife."

An antique is something no one would be seen with if there were more of them, but which everyone wants when no one has any.

No Moss on It
"What's that stone in Ann's engagement ring, Joyce?"
"A rolling stone, my dear. I had it once."

Her Touch
A person had occasion to reprove a small boy for swearing.
"If you feel you must say something just say 'Bother!'" he said. "Your father doesn't swear, does he?"
"Oh no, sir!"
"Well, then; if he were working in the garden and suddenly stepped backwards on to a rake which flew up and hit him from behind, what would he say?"
"He'd say: 'You're back early, dear!'"

The Real Problem
Hubby—Have you ever wondered what you would do if you had Rockefeller's income?
Wife—No, but I have often wondered what Rockefeller would do if he had mine.

Last Chance
"Well, we have exhausted reason, logic, common sense, and justice; what more can we do?"
"I guess we'll simply have to go to law."

Quarter Down
It happened at an income tax office in Washington. A colored resident, with his form all filled out, approached the "Pay" window and laid a quarter on the ledge.
"What's that for?" asked the clerk, who had read the total amount of the tax.
"Why, that's for my income tax. They done told me I could pay a quarter at a time."

Literate Fellow
"I must find another tailor. This one reads too much."
"Reads too much?"
"Yes. Every time he writes to me he begins, 'On going through my books!'"

AROUND THE HOUSE

Keep the tops of your spice tins very secure as the air tends to make spices lose their flavor.

Brooms and other sweeping brushes should be hung up when not in use. For hanging, use ordinary picture wire. It wears indefinitely and being stiff will catch on hooks more easily than string.

When the ironing board is folded up and stood away in the closet or corner of the kitchen until needed again, the end that rests on the floor becomes soiled. To prevent this, make a slip cover for the end.

Next time the steps need painting, try painting every other step; let these dry, then paint the others. It takes a bit longer, 'tis true, but it's a lot handier and the kiddies will love having to take 'em "two at a time."

To remove fresh paint, wash fabric with soap and water. If the stain is old, soften it with lard or sponge with turpentine. Then launder. If material is nonwashable, sponge with turpentine or spot remover.

To keep tacks handy, drill a three-eighth inch hole, two or three inches deep, in the handle of your tack hammer. Fill this with tacks and plug the end with a cork.

A small piece of tin or a thin piece of wood is useful when washing the baseboard of a room. It can be slipped along as the woodwork is scrubbed and save many a nasty smear on the wall-paper.

To remove old wallpaper, wet with a solution of one tablespoon of salt-peter in a gallon of water. Works best if the water is hot.

If a little piece is chipped off walnut furniture, touch up the spot with iodine applied with a piece of cotton, then go over the surface with furniture polish.

A clean, well-kept iron gives efficient service. With a damp cloth, wipe off any starch marks. If the iron sticks while pressing, rub it over salt sprinkled on a paper. Once a month rub the warm iron with beeswax or paraffin and then rub over a clean cloth or paper until the excess wax is entirely removed.

When the soldier talks about "the skipper" he means his captain, the head of his company. And that's just what the title "captain" means. It comes from the Latin word "caput" meaning "head." Another leader high in the Army man's favor is Camel cigarettes—they're first choice with men in the Army. (Based on actual sales records from service men's own stores.) When you're sending gifts from home, keep in mind that a carton of cigarettes is always most welcome. And though there are Post Office restrictions on packages to overseas Army men, you can still send Camels to soldiers in the U. S., and to men in the Navy, Marines, and Coast Guard wherever they are.—Adv.

SNAPPY FACTS ABOUT RUBBER

Street chains and padlocks bind each of the four wheels to the bumper of a Trenton, N. J., woman's car when she parks it in the streets at night.

It was not until 1916 that the U. S. made its first annual appropriation for Federal aid highways. Good roads, good automobiles and good tires are companion necessities in modern motoring.

It is generally believed that at speeds below 35 mph, tire blow-outs, whether front or rear, are not particularly dangerous for alert drivers, other things being equal. Another good reason for keeping to the rubber-saving 35 mph limit.

In return for their stimulated rubber growing and collecting activities the United States has agreed to pay South and Central American countries from 33 to 45 cents a pound for rubber until the end of 1946 at least. Before governmental price fixing, rubber was selling in the U. S. at 2 1/2 cents a pound.

ON THE HOME FRONT with RUTH WYETH SPEARS

HERE is how you can play Fairy Godmother to a kitchen chair. Pad the back as shown here, using at least three layers of cotton batting for the front of it and one for the back. Next, cut an 18-inch circle of cardboard and use it for a pattern for marking the shape of the round seat on boards or plywood. Cut out the wooden seat and screw it to the chair. Save the cardboard pattern.

Cover the front of the chair back next, tufting it with covered buttons sewn through the back with a long needle. Sew the back of the cover in place with stitches hidden under welting. Tack a strip of muslin around the seat, and sew the ruffles to it. Now, pad the round cardboard; stretch covering fabric over it; then sew it in place on the chair.

Political Trend

Republican election victories in two cities in the past week are considered proof that the trend away from the New Deal has grown infinitely since last fall.

D. Boone Dawson was reelected mayor of Charleston by a 3 to 2 vote. In Clarksburg, the citizens elected a solid Republican council, the first time since 1921 that either party has had complete control of that body.

Withers Arbuckle of Lewisburg, who was appointed manager of the U. S. Senate restaurant by M. M. Neely while the latter was in the Senate, has been sentenced in a District of Columbia court to imprisonment from four to eighteen months for embezzlement.

Are You a Quiz Kid?

What do you know about your government today?

What is The Outlook For Rubber Tires For Civilian Use?—"Very, very black," says Elmer Davis of the Office of War Information.

What is The Submarine Situation?—"We're winning," says Secretary of the Navy Frank Knox.

Is There A Shortage Of Manpower On The Farms?—"No," says Paul V. McNutt, manpower chief.

Are The American People Getting The Facts About The War?—"Yes," says Elmer Davis of the OWI.

Will Miners' Wage Increases Be Granted?—"No," says President Roosevelt.

Are The Japs Building Up Serious Naval Strength In The Southwest Pacific?—"No," says Secretary of the Navy Knox.

OUR DEMOCRACY by Mat

MEN OF THE MERCHANT MARINE.

AMERICAN MERCHANT SAILORS IN 1776, TURNED FROM PEACETIME TRADE - FORMED A FIGHTING NAVY IN THE REVOLUTIONARY WAR - HELPED WIN THAT WAR.

By 1840 THEY WERE MANNING AMERICAN WHALERS AND CLIPPERS - MADE US SUPREME ON THE SEVEN SEAS.

TODAY OUR MERCHANT SAILORS ARE AGAIN CARRYING THE WAR TO OUR ENEMIES - FIGHTING SHOULDER TO SHOULDER WITH OUR ARMED FORCES, THEY ARE "DELIVERING THE GOODS" TO THE BATTLEFRONTS WHERE VICTORY WILL BE WON.

to "trespass" on Guadalcanal. American Soldiers are not hesitating to "trespass" in North Africa. American Sailors didn't hesitate to "trespass" in Japanese harbors and sink enemy ships.

The soldiers, of course, can't strike—that is, at anything but the Japs and Nazis. They don't have any contract either. They're just working (at risk of their lives) for the nation, without anything to say about how, when or where they'll be used.

"The OPA threatens to develop into another WPA with all the familiar incompetency, political patronage, paper shuffling and silly community projects," charges the Huntington Herald-Dispatch.

A Subterfuge

Frances Perkins, Secretary of Labor, urged the soft coal operators to "guarantee" every miner a full six days work every week in the year.

"We are astonished that you would recommend that the operators should guarantee that annual wage (of $2,400). If present conditions continue, no guarantee is needed to assure that earning capacity. If the demand for coal lessens or cars are not available to transport the coal to markets, if they exist, or if other conditions prevent regular operation for six days every week, then your suggested guarantee might easily bankrupt a large portion of the industry."

The operators suggested that Mrs. Perkins stick by the President this time instead of by John L. Lewis. They urged that "you give consideration to the President's suggestion that the way to stop granting wage increases is to avoid trying to find means to evade the prohibition against such increases."

Taxpayers Protest

An association of taxpayers at Williamson has gone to court to prevent members of the county court from taking a $50-a-month increase in pay voted them by the recent Legislature at the instigation of Senator W. E. Burchett (D-Mingo).

If the association should be upheld in its contention by the courts, the salaries of commissioners in every county in West Virginia will be affected: and it might even be possible to make all those who drew "excess" pay, refund it to the counties.

On Washington's birthday, President Roosevelt likened himself unto the Father of His Country. On Lincoln's birthday, Mr. Roosevelt likened himself unto the Great Emancipator. On Jefferson's birthday, the President likened himself to the Author of the Declaration of Independence.

Farm Labor Shortage Solved

West Virginia farmers may be short of help but Harold Ickes, Secretary of the Interior, isn't worried about a shortage of manpower on his farm near Washington.

He got the War Relocation Authority to give him three Japs from one of the concentration centers in the West. They'll have to stick on the farm, because the police power of the federal government will make them do it.

Four Hively Sons, Serving Uncle Sam, Write Home Folks

Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Hively received the following letters last week from their four sons who are in the service of their country.

Somewhere in the Pacific April 4, 1943

DEAR MOTHER,

To my surprise I heard from you and Lysle, my little brother in the Navy. I thought the army already had him cornered and sealed. I am sorry I didn't hear sooner 'cause I know he was looking for an answer from me.

What does Floyd mean, I haven't heard from him for a long time. I'll drop him a card tonight. C. O. D. and watch him go in the air. Mother find out for me what little girl Lysle thinks a lot of back there for I just know what he needs. It is awful nice that Arling is with him, for Arling is such a good boy.

I have a few more letters to write, so take it easy and good care of yourself. Tell all the kiddies "hello!" Your Son, CARL

Great Lakes, Ill. April 10, 1943

DEAR MOTHER,

I received the pictures and the nice birthday card. I got a letter from Glenn today and he is in New York now, expects to be there about a month. No, I haven't heard from Carl at all. Glenn hasn't heard from him for about two months.

I sent Mary a blue pillow top just like the red one that I sent you. I took my last shot of vaccine Thursday. We will find out whether we will go home the nineteenth or third. I am almost sure I will be home about the twentieth.

I received a letter from Floyd the other day and he is getting along O. K.

Chester McLaughlin came into this camp last Saturday. He dropped me a card Monday, and I went and looked him up that night. I found him just across the drill field from here. It is just a couple hundred yards from this barrack. I am going to see him again tomorrow.

I am glad to hear that Tony, the colt, is being brought over the coals and that he isn't giving you much more trouble. As soon as I find out when I can come home I will drop you a letter.

Just LYSLE

Buffalo, N. Y. April 12, 1943

DEAR MOM AND DAD,

I received your letter yesterday and was glad to get it. It is pretty cold up here and we have to dig down into the bottom of our bags and get all the winter clothes that Uncle Sam gave us. I had a letter from Lysle, guess he will soon be home. I wish I could make it too, but I cannot. I had a letter from Floyd yesterday, too. He gets off the same hours on week ends that I do. I am going to try to meet him half way the first Sunday in May, provided I am still here. We have to parade in Buffalo next Sunday, P. M. Ten Easter so many of the boys will be going away that there is a chance that all the boys that want out will not get out. We are scheduled to be here until the middle of May but any time the Transport Command wants to call us.

Floyd sent me a picture of himself. The uniform looks nice. The Air Corps has a snappy one, but we have to buy them ourselves if we want one and they just cost $70.00. They say they may issue them any time. I do not care much because it is hard to keep your clothes nice living out of barrack bags. Tell Lee, "Do", and "Bear" to be very careful and not to work too hard, 'cause I can just picture them doing some farming. What is this, have you turned the farm into poultry farm now? I have to go. There isn't much to say just the same old routine. Tell all hello! and write me here.

Just GLENN

Boston, Mass. April 14, 1943

DEAR MOTHER,

Now don't be alarmed by the type written letter, as I am writing the letter from work and this is the fastest way. I am just taking a few minutes off Uncle Sam.

I see you received the picture all right. I was worried somewhat of the possibility of it getting broken in the mail.

You probably know of Glenn being in New York at the present. I have received a couple letters from him since his change of address. We are planning on getting together in the meantime. It will be good to see him again and especially see him in the uniform. I haven't seen him since he entered the service. I received a letter from Lysle last night. He is getting along fine. By the sound of his letter the Navy is treating him O. K. He mentioned the prospect of getting leave home real soon. So Lysle probably will be flying home some day soon.

Do you have Shoe Ration at home? I never heard you say in your letters. The girls really have a time around here.

Well Mother, this is just a routine letter to let you know I am still kicking and getting along alright.

Your son, FLOYD.

SOCIAL DOTS

Chatty Items About People And Events

Conversation with the owners of a lodge at Hot Springs, concerning whether the newspaper people had been granted admittance to the food conference being held there, brought the answer, "no," and revealed the information that newspaper men of national reputation were staying at the lodge to pick up any piece of news that might become available. Mrs. Frank King, Mrs. Adolph Cooper and Mrs. Jake Hill expect to leave Friday of this week for Morgantown. Mrs. Carlisle Wade will accompany them back to Marlinton. Mrs. Della Wiseman of Roneverte is visiting at the home of Mr. and Mrs. James Bear. Mrs. L. C. McCutcheon of Greenbank was a luncheon guest of Mrs. Aubrey Ferguson last Friday. A good way to "square" that list of social obligations would be to organize a theatre party and attend the show which is being sponsored next Monday and Tuesday by the A. D. D. Club of the local high school. Mr. and Mrs. John Sydenstricker, accompanied by Mrs. Alice Jackson, were in Maxwelton Sunday. They returned to that town Tuesday for the funeral of John B. Sydenstricker who died Easter Sunday morning at 7 o'clock. Services were held at the Clifton Presbyterian Church. The deceased was a first cousin of John A. Sydenstricker of Marlinton, and was a former member of the House of Delegates and had served his church as superintendent of the Sunday school for 25 years. One of the nicest things we have reported in a phone call from George Clark who is stationed in Montana, is his mother, Mrs. Lucy Clark—to wish her a happy Easter, and of some to hear Mother's voice. Another long distance call was one from George Sharp of the Marines, wish his mother, Mrs. Summers Sharp, a happy birthday. Mrs. Jewel Hamilton has missed a few long distance calls from her husband, E. A. Hamilton, who is stationed at Camp Carson, Colo., because they came when she was not home. However, Mrs. Hamilton has been suffering with a throat ailment which has forced her to talk in a hoarse, which would have made it possible for her to hold the conversation. (Note to "Ham": Her has improved now). Beautiful flowers which decorated the Presbyterian church in the services were given by Mrs. M. Hester of Wagneshoro, Va., in honor of her sister, Mrs. J. O. O. (the former Mary McLaughlin) mother of Miss Helen Smith. At the Methodist church was held and directed by Miss Edith and was much appreciated. Mrs. Frank King with an arrangement of flowers for Miss Lang, who is ill—Anna Olin, who was invited out to a home on a surprise birthday party—Mr. and Mrs. Sydenstricker consisting congratulatory and gifts on their wedding day (1914), an event of last year—Mrs. Walter Jett, wearing a dress of pink roses, having

and E., visited Mr. and Mrs. Dewey Stemple for several days. Prosecuting Attorney Richard Curran left Monday morning by bus for a visit with his mother at Clarksburg. Mr. and Mrs. Morrell Phares and children of Cumberland visited Mr. and Mrs. Pat Gay over the week-end. Sam Lambert and Robert Peters of Bluefield were visiting last week at the home of Miss Edmonia Gibson. Charles Ruckman of the Navy medical corps, spent some time as the guest of Mr. and Mrs. Elba Callison and relatives in Pocahontas county. Mrs. Keith Cunningham of Elkins, Mr. and Mrs. Tom Yeager and children of Grafton were visiting Mrs. H. D. Marshall last week-end. E. L. Fenton of Charleston and Mr. and Mrs. James C. Short and daughter visited Mrs. E. L. Fenton and Miss Mary Frances Fenton last week-end. Calvin Price left Wednesday for Charleston, where he will address the State Institute of West Virginia Librarians Thursday at 11 a. m. He will also look after other business matters while in the capital city. Miss Thelma Williams and Miss Jean Weber, teachers at Rainelle, visited Mr. and Mrs. E. H. Williams on Saturday and Sunday. We were glad to see Bill Stewart, now of New Martinsville, who was visiting his parents here last week-end. Misses Margaret and Martha Hill of Charleston visited in Marlinton recently. Clark Young of Hamilton Field Addition was another person who had a birthday to celebrate on Easter Sunday. Mrs. D. M. Faulkner, Mr. and Mrs. Harold Johnson and son, Eddie, all of Dunbar, were week-end visitors of Mr. and Mrs. Clark Young and Mrs. Flora Johnson. Miss Dora McLaughlin of Brown's Mountain has returned to her home after spending some time in Dunbar. Guests of Dr. Harry Solter last week were his son and daughter-in-

But kidneys sometimes lag in their work—do not act as Nature intended—fail to remove impurities that, if retained, may poison the system and upset the whole body machinery. BRACE THE ICE

Just Dissolved

Two soldiers home on leave were having a chat.

"But weren't you engaged the last time we met?" asked one. "What happened? Did you break it off?"

"No, not exactly."

"Then she did?"

"No."

"Well, then..."

"Yes, she, she told me what her clothes cost, and I told her what my pay was. Then our engagement ended in the middle and gently dissolved."

The Engagement

Looking over the young wife's baby, and what she looked in still she made up in size.

One day, when a neighbor's small boy had an accident for her, she rewarded him with a generous piece of her best which she had made with her own fair hands. The boy left, looking as he went away.

A few minutes later the postmaster brought again.

"Thank you very much for the box," he said, with my gratitude. "Here's your lot of brand new..."

Break It Up

"We women suffer in silence." "I suppose that's why you never permit it to exist where you are."

Neat Trick for Stretching Meat-Scrapple (See Recipe Below)

Make Red Points Work!

Making red points fit your menus and still give you plenty of valuable proteins and fats on which to do a man-sized day's work is like working out a jig-saw puzzle. But you remember how they all can come out if you try hard enough? The answer is in budgeting your points before you spend them, getting meats with low point value, and extending flavor of meat as much as possible.

First of all, let's realize that meat is a high quality protein, and that the body needs it for repairing and building tissue—which is a full-time job. We designate proteins as complete and incomplete, the ones which are complete do a complete job of body building and repairing. Complete proteins are meat, cheese, fish, poultry, eggs and milk.

Incomplete proteins are those which can do just part of the job, and in this class we have breads, cereals, beans, peas and nuts. Of course we can use these foods alternately or in combination with meat, when we cannot get enough meat to fill our requirements. But, always, please bear the difference in mind.

Pork is our foremost source of thiamin or vitamin B, sometimes called the pep and energy vitamin because of its important contribution to mental health. Here pork sausage is combined with a cereal for a really delicious "stretched" dish:

- All-Bran Scrapple.
(Serves 8)
- 1 pound fresh pork sausage
 - 2 cups water
 - 1 teaspoon salt
 - 1/4 teaspoon pepper
 - 1/4 teaspoon powdered sage
 - Few grains cayenne
 - 2/3 cup cornmeal
 - 2/3 cup bran cereal

Brown sausage in heavy skillet, stirring occasionally; pour off and save fat. Bring water to a boil, add salt, pepper, sage and cayenne. Stir in cornmeal gradually; cook until thickened, stirring constantly. Add bran cereal and mix thoroughly. Pour into dampened loaf pan; chill until firm. Unmold. Cut into 1/2-inch slices and brown in sausage fat on hot griddle. Serve with maple syrup or apple butter.

Chicken is a complete protein—and goes a long way, nicely in this delightful fruity salad which you'll enjoy serving company or Sunday night supper guests:

- Lynn Says:
- The Score Card: With 35 million homemakers carrying ration books to the grocers, new ways for managing limited foods are the order of the day.
- Many of these homemakers are accustomed to pulling off cans from their shelves, or taking quick-frozen food from their storage lockers. Now they will have to glean all possible facts from labels of these processed foods, budget their points carefully.
- It's smart to buy the size of can most profitable for her own individual family. Keep a table of equivalents handy in your purse until you become proficient. Usually, 16 ounces or one fluid pint will fill two measuring cups. The 32-ounce size will fill four cups.
- Remember canned vegetables are already cooked and need be brought only to boiling to be ready to serve.
- Buying fresh fruits and vegetables relieves pressure on canned goods.

- Orange-Chicken Salad.
(Serves 6)
- 1 1/2 cups orange sections
 - 2 cups cooked chicken, minced
 - 1 cup diced celery
 - 1/2 cup lemon french dressing
 - Lettuce and other greens

Toss orange sections, chicken and celery together with the lemon french dressing. Arrange on six individual beds of greens or lettuce.

Kidney beans are a second-class or incomplete protein food, but they are fine to use on that extra day when there are no red points left over for meat. Dried peas and lentils have a low point value which makes them fine for tide-overs on meatless days: Grated cheese adds food value, takes only a few red points:

- Kidney Bean Loaf.
(Serves 6 to 8)
- 2 cups dry kidney beans
 - 2 cups water
 - 4 cups stale bread crumbs
 - 2 cups grated cheese
 - 1/2 cup chopped onion
 - 1/4 cup shortening
 - 1 egg
 - 1 1/2 teaspoons salt
 - 1/2 teaspoon pepper

Soak beans overnight in the 2 cups water. In the morning, bring to a boil in the same liquid and then simmer until beans are tender. Mash beans fine and add all other ingredients, mixing well. Pack into a loaf pan and bake 1 1/2 hours in a 325-degree oven. Baste occasionally with 1 tablespoon melted butter and 1/4 cup water.

You may use fish generously as a real menu aid during these days. Many types of fish are in season all the year round, and a great many other come in season during spring:

- Fish Loaf.
(Serves 4)
- 2 cups flaked, steamed fish
 - 1/2 teaspoon salt
 - 2 eggs, separated
 - 1 cup medium white sauce
- Combine, fish, salt, beaten egg yolks, white sauce and beaten egg whites. Pour into greased baking dish and bake in a moderate oven 20 to 30 minutes.

- *Stuffed Veal Hearts.
(Serves 5)
- 2 veal hearts
 - 2 tablespoons chopped onion
 - 1/4 cup chopped celery
 - 2 tablespoons shortening
 - 1 1/2 cups fine bread crumbs
 - 1/4 teaspoon salt
 - 1/4 teaspoon pepper
 - 1/4 cup water
 - 3 tablespoons shortening
 - 2 cups stewed tomatoes
 - 2 whole cloves
 - 1 bay leaf
 - 1 teaspoon salt
 - 1/4 teaspoon pepper

Clean hearts by cutting through side to center, open with a sharp knife, cut out all veins and arteries. Wash well. Make a dressing by cooking onion and celery in shortening. Add crumbs, salt, pepper and water. Stuff the hearts with dressing and tie together with string. Roll hearts in flour, brown in shortening. Add tomatoes, cloves, bay leaf. Sprinkle with salt and pepper. Cover with tight fitting lid and cook on low heat for 1 1/2 hours.

Kidneys Must Work Well!

For You To Feel Well

24 hours every day, 7 days every week, never stopping, the kidneys filter waste matter from the blood.

If more people were aware of how the kidneys must constantly remove surplus food, excess acids and other waste matter that cannot stay in the blood without injury to health, there would be better understanding of why the whole system is upset when kidneys fail to function properly.

Burning, scanty or too frequent urination sometimes warns that something is wrong. You may suffer nagging back-aches, headaches, dizziness, tremulousness, getting up at night, swelling.

Why not try Doan's Pills? You will be using a medicine recommended the country over. Doan's stimulates the function of the kidneys and help them to flush out poisonous waste from the blood. They contain nothing harmful. Get Doan's today. Use with confidence. At all drug stores.

Sheepskins for Skymen

His woolen clothes and the sheepskin linings in his helmet, jacket, boots, and gloves keep this hard-hitting Yankee gunner warm in zero weather. The wool from 26 sheep is needed to outfit the average soldier, and, in addition, flyers need shearing sheepskin for linings that keep out crippling cold at high altitudes. With the Army and Navy getting bigger every day, sheep and wool growers are of prime importance in the 1943 Farm Mobilization Campaign, launched January 12. They are being asked to continue the high level of wool production this year, and to market more sheep and lambs when their wool is of the right length to make good sheepskin linings.

THE 2ND WAR LOAN DRIVE IS

The Command has Come—

"Attack!"

THE big push is on! This is the fateful summer that we have been waiting for. Hitler knows he must win before another winter rolls around, or face inevitable annihilation. And you can be sure that he will hurl everything he has—every gun, plane, soldier and tank—into the summer struggle that is even now rising in tempo on every front.

And when the command goes out to our fighting men to ATTACK—you can be sure they don't look for excuses. They don't hesitate. They strike fast and hard—as they did at Guadalcanal, in Tunisia and in the skies over Europe.

NOW the command has come on the home front to attack! To attack with the dollars that buy the weapons of war our boys must have to meet the last desperate assaults of Hitler. Your government asks you to lend it 13 billion dollars during this drive. And this historic 2nd War Loan Drive, which will start April 12th, is the most urgent appeal America has ever made!

The time is short—act now!

When you attack with War Bonds you suffer pain or anguish—you don't risk limbs or your life as millions of our boys are doing every day. All you do is make an investment—the safest in the world—help to secure Victory now—and your financial security.

During this drive if you are visited by a volunteer War Bond worker, welcome him. He will explain the 7 different types of Government obligations you may buy from. But don't wait for his call—go to your nearest bank or Post Office or wherever they sell War Bonds. And answer the command to ATTACK by buying War Bonds—and still more War Bonds!

U. S. Pledges Bombs to Japan's Heart; Allies Break Axis Mountain Defenses As Drive for Tunis and Bizerte Speeds; Russ-Nazis Locked in Caucasus Battle

EDITOR'S NOTE: When opinions are expressed in these columns, they are those of Western Newspaper Union's news analysts and not necessarily of this newspaper. Released by Western Newspaper Union.

American arms, ammunition and equipment were a potent factor in stepping up the fighting strength of French armies aiding the Allied cause in the Tunisian campaign. Above, Gen. Henri Giraud (center), French high commissioner of North Africa, is seen inspecting U. S. war equipment sent for French army use.

VENGEANCE:

For Jap Executions

Stern punishment for the Jap military leaders responsible for the execution of American fliers captured after last year's raid on Tokyo was promised by President Roosevelt, who said the United States would "hold personally and officially responsible" all those who participated in these crimes and bring them to justice.

That the Japs' barbarity was a confession of their vulnerability to air attack was clear. This was underscored by Tokyo broadcasts threatening to execute American fliers captured on future raids over Japan.

The reply to such threats was given by Maj. Gen. Henry H. Arnold, commander of the air forces, who told his fliers:

"Let your answer to their treatment of your comrades be the destruction of the Japanese air force, their lines of communication, and the production centers which offer them the opportunity to continue such atrocities."

To this Maj. Gen. James H. Doolittle, who led the Tokyo raid a year ago added: "Soon our bombers will be there again, striking at the heart of Japan until the empire crumbles and they beg for mercy."

RUBBER: Showdown on Oil Use

Rubber continued to be a controversial subject as William M. Jeffers, rubber director, came to grips with Robert P. Patterson, under-secretary of war, and Harold L. Ickes, petroleum administrator, in a dispute over the use of gasoline in the synthetic production program.

Patterson, supported by Ickes, charged in a statement that Jeffers was weakening American air strength against the Axis by reducing combat supplies of high octane gas for the benefit of the civilian synthetic rubber manufacturing schedule.

Still at odds with Elmer Davis, OWI director, over publicity releases on the rubber program, Jeffers bristled on his two new opponents declaring that their charges called for investigation to bring out the true facts to the public.

PACIFIC: U. S. Fliers Busy

From the Aleutians to New Guinea, American airmen continued their assaults on Jap airfields, shipping and ground installations. Liberators, Mitchells, Lightnings and Warhawks made 15 raids on the enemy at Kiska, carrying the total of bombs on this menacing Jap installation to more than 100 in the course of a single month.

In the Solomons, Yankee fliers battered Jap positions in four air raids, attacking Tonal harbor and Kietia and smashing at Kaititi and Monda.

From Australia, Allied aircraft made 10 trips in a single day, dropping enemy planes and strafing Jap base installations and occupied villages. Rabaul and Uluu, New Britain, the leader area of New Guinea and Lae on Timor Island were the principal targets.

U-BOAT DAMAGE:

More Ships the Remedy

Calling submarine losses of United Nations' shipping "heavy but not disastrous," the Truman senate committee revealed that approximately 1,000,000 tons a month were sunk last year—or more than the total tonnage built by the United States and Britain combined in 1942. Adding that losses were reduced in the latter months of the year, the report declared: "The submarine menace can and will be effectively met."

Most effective answer to the U-boat threat will be increases in new construction of merchant ships and escort vessels this year, the committee said. The report estimated that between 18 and 19 million deadweight tons will be built in 1943, compared with 8,000,000 tons last year.

Increased speed for newly constructed ships was promised through the building of new Victory models and the redesigning of Liberty ships to permit speeds of 15 to 17 knots compared with 11 knots for the present design.

VACATIONS:

Public Must Co-operate

Summer vacations by train for Americans remained a probability in spite of a ruling by the Office of Defense Transportation that no additional summer train service requiring the use of Pullman sleeping car equipment would be authorized. Rail officials expressed the belief that regular services would be sufficient to accommodate vacationists if the public is willing to accept inconveniences and co-operate by spreading travel throughout the week.

Only exception to the curtailment policy, the ODT stated, will be "coach trains operated in the period between Saturday noon and Sunday midnight utilizing primarily commuter equipment otherwise idle in that period and additional trains of semi-commuter type operated on other days of the week within a radius of approximately 50 miles of a terminus."

All other requests for extra coach or parlor-car train service for daily, tri-weekly or week-end summer operations will be denied, the ODT indicated.

DRAFT:

Payrollers on Call

Probability that many of the 840,000 draft-eligible men on government payrolls would be inducted into the armed forces was seen in the selective service's ruling that federal workers could not be deferred for occupational reasons except through examination of individual cases by a special presidential committee.

Up to the present, thousands of government workers had been given deferred classification as essential. Selective service announced that effective May 15, the 6,500 local boards must submit monthly to Major General Hershey, for transmission to congress, the names and numbers of federal employees classified as 2-A or 2-B, the classes of deferment for occupational reasons.

POISON GAS:

British Ready

Prime Minister Churchill had warned the Nazis several times previously that the use of poison gas on any front would result in immediate retaliation by the British. Now he cautioned the enemy again, adding that he had received reports that "Hitler is making preparations for using poison gas against the Russian front."

WAR BUILDING

With the completion of the major part of the building construction necessary for full-scale armament production, a shift of men and materials from construction to other fields is now under way, the department of commerce reported.

The department estimated a decline of 22 per cent in new construction in the first quarter of 1943 compared with the last quarter of 1942. New construction amounted to $2,200,000 in the first three months of this year.

POSTWAR FINANCE:

Congress Holds Reins

Voting to extend for two years the President's authority over the $2,000,000,000 currency stabilization fund, the house adopted an amendment designed to prevent the use of this money in the $5,000,000,000 international banking fund proposed by Treasury Secretary Morgenthau for a postwar world bank.

The senate had previously withdrawn the President's power to devalue the dollar while approving continuance of his power of the stabilization fund.

In effect, the house amendment introduced by Representative Reed of Illinois gave congress control over the $2,000,000,000 stabilization fund and the proposed postwar banking fund. House leaders indicated that congress would provide funds for the latter, in the event it was set up.

Nation's Railroads Move 50,000 Troops Each Day

Special Surveys Decrease Cross Hauling; Developments Abroad May Force Unexpected Shifting of Troops.

By BAUKHAGE News Analyst and Commentator.

Washington, D. C.

Recently I had to make seven consecutive week-end trips between Washington and New York—I left Washington after a late Friday broadcast and had to return Monday for one at noon. Not once was I able to get reservations for the return trip until at the last minute when some unused space was turned in.

If I groused a little too loudly over this, it may have been because I didn't know then what I learned officially only the other day; namely, that "if the war department insisted in having all the Pullman equipment it could use, all the Pullman cars of the country would be carrying troops."

In other words, if Johnny Doughboy didn't step aside occasionally, we'd all use coaches or walk.

Compromise

The present arrangement is said to be a compromise in recognition of essential civilian needs. At present, a million and three-quarter soldiers are being moved a month—that is 50,000 a day—in America's trains in official troop movements. This does not include the many men on leave.

There are, of course, movements of whole divisions with full equipment but these are the exceptions. As you have probably noticed if you travel very much, there are usually a few cars containing troops attached to your passenger train. This is the way most of the troops are transported—in small groups of 250 or less. However, that is a considerable addition to the regular passenger traffic.

It's said a soldier eats twice as much as he did in civilian life and that is one reason why food has to be rationed to civilians. But he travels a lot more in proportion to his normal civilian peregrinations. Many a man saw his first big city when he reached London or Cairo or New Delhi. I know a pilot who dropped in at the airport here recently and had several hours wait-over. When he was asked why he didn't cross the bridge and look the capital over, he said he'd never been in a big city and didn't want to get lost. The next thing heard from this particular was that he was in Calcutta.

Average Number

In the last war, the average number of moves made by a soldier were three. Here is a list of typical moves he makes in this war, drawn up by the Office of War Information:

1. To the induction center
2. To reception center
3. To replacement training center
4. To his particular branch of service
5. To big maneuvers
6. Return
7. To special training areas
8. To port of embarkation

Special studies are made to cut down unnecessary cross-hauling but sudden developments abroad may force soldiers who are located near one port to be shifted to another far away. Or a special need for particularized training may arise and that may force men to be doubled back to desert or mountain for the specialized practice in snow or under a hot sun that new requirements make necessary.

Maneuvers in the southeast and southwest, including the desert training areas of California, have sometimes required the moving in of as many as 300,000 men within a few weeks, equipment and all. Naturally, that disrupted a large part of passenger traffic for several weeks at a time.

Unessential Travel

Efforts are being made to cut down extra passenger travel by discouraging conventions, trade shows, big sports contests and other gatherings. One exception has been made, and that is the lecturer. Even the President saw fit to come out with a statement encouraging the continuation of the work of lecture bureaus. He expressed himself to Lowell Thomas, who traveled to Washington, on that subject—the plea for a good word for the speaker.

er. Thomas represented many people who do considerable public speaking. I know how difficult it is. I, myself, have been unable to accept lecture dates because it is so difficult to be certain of connections and a broadcaster has to move with the regularity of a train schedule—a train schedule in peace time—the microphone waits for no man.

There have been rumors of late that transportation was snagged; that because of the U-boats, supplies were piling up on the docks and loaded freight cars were jamming the yards and causing congestion. But the Office of War Information says that latest advices indicate that congestion is being lessened. In fact, the official word is: "The battle of transportation... at a crisis at Pearl Harbor time... is now being won."

Nearing Limit

I hope that this statement isn't over-optimistic. As a matter of fact, the reservation is noted that "the victories are not necessarily permanent. Our transportation equipment, with few exceptions, is being used close to its limits"—and there remain two situations which are not satisfactory, one is movement of oil and the other is movement of getting the war workers to and from work.

The latter difficulty is responsible, according to some investigators, for much of the recently decried absenteeism.

To get an idea of what the traffic has to bear in a city where war industries are concentrated, there has been an increase of use of the Detroit street railway systems of 76.9 per cent. The Baltimore transit line is up 90 per cent and the Washington, 131 per cent. I know what these figures mean as does anyone who has to make his way to and from work in the capital. I have also seen that fabulous city of San Diego, once a pleasant, sleepy town which seemed to move lazily with the pelicans that flew over the bay or the whispering palms. The pelicans have been replaced by planes and it's a 24-hour town, with a 336 per cent increase in the use of its busses and trolley cars.

Diary of a Broadcaster

Today I made it from bedside to desk in one hour and 18 minutes, including the time to make my own breakfast of coffee, poached eggs, grapefruit and zwieback (my wife is away) also to traverse on foot some 13 Washington blocks. I think that this record is not bad considering the variety of activities included. I managed to hear the early five-minute newscast and scanned the headlines which told me whether the news wind was blowing in the same direction this morning that it was last night when the newspapers went to bed—in other words, was I to plow fresh fields or harvest what I could from the old ones.

I also removed the blanket that shields our three parakeets from northern drafts and waited for the welcoming chirrup that one, the least snobbish of the three, condescends to give me before I leave the room. As soon as I do, they all burst into song.

Walking to work in Washington these days is like reviewing the armies of the United Nations for one can spot almost any uniform between Dupont Circle and Pennsylvania avenue. But it seems that the WAVES are in the preponderance. The WAACs are smart but the navy has a uniform that is a little bit less drab than the olive. It is surprising how an elderly matron turns out in that navy blue-and-gold as smart as a midshipman.

Washington's springtime, one of its two beautiful seasons, is here in April—gone in May. First, the forsythia burns with its yellow flame; then the magnolias bluish and fade, and the dogwoods raise their sweet ghostliness among their darker sisters; then the cherry blossoms come—and there are many of them scattered over the city as well as the better advertised ones along the lagoon. Soon they are followed by leaves on the oaks and the elms and the maples. Then backyard roses are brilliant with the rambler roses and you know that spring is done.

Got Something You Want to Sell?

Most people have a piece of furniture, a farm implement, something else which they have discarded and which they no longer want.

These things are put in the city, or stored away in the barn, or left lying about, getting in the way and lessening the value.

WHY NOT SELL THEM?

GRASSROOTS
 by WRIGHT A. PATTERSON
 Released by Western Newspaper Union.

WITHOUT FARMS, RANCHES, AMERICA WOULD VANISH

HE WAS a prosperous, well-fed looking individual, beside whom I sat in the lounge car of a train crossing Nebraska. He told me he lived in New York.

From the car window, we could see the western Nebraska ranch homes. "People who live in such places must be only half human to endure such a life," he said. "For the sake of the nation, and especially in wartime, it is a good thing we have places like New York to depend upon."

"The man who lives in that house over there," I pointed to a not-so-pretentious ranch house, "is one of the kings of America. He rules over a few hundred or a few thousand acres. People of New York and other cities are but his subjects. Without him and his kind your cities would not exist. He supplies the foundation upon which not only the cities, but the nation is built. He thinks more intelligently than do 75 per cent of the people of the cities. He represents the culture of America. He supplies the food, that first essential of both peace and war. He is intensely patriotic. He works whatever number of hours are required to do the job in order that you, and your kind, may live. He, and his kind—people of the farms and ranches and those of the rural cities and towns through which we are passing, constitute the most valuable 50 per cent of the population of our nation. They, not the people of the cities, represent the real humans of America. People of the cities, that rancher's subjects, would do well to emulate his many virtues and his patriotism."

Of course I did not convince the New York gentleman that he and his kind living in the cities were not the first and most valuable citizens of the nation, but I told him a few plain truths, which I hope he may think about. Without the farms and ranches, there would be no cities, and no America.

ADVANTAGES OF FARM IN 'RATIONED DAYS'

IN MANY CITIES you go to the market with the hope of getting something for the family table. It is not a question of selections—it is a case of accepting, with thanks, whatever you can get. In limited quantities, you can find canned fruits and vegetables—about half the quantity the family had in pre-rationed days. In the line of fresh vegetables, you may find one or two varieties, but more often there is none. In meats, you may get a sirloin steak at one time and nothing better than neck bones another, but frequently it will be none of any kind. You do not ask for beef or lamb or veal or pork. You ask only for meat, and are pleased at your good fortune if you get any.

How different on the farm in these war days. Mother canned the fruits and vegetables for the family. In the cellar are rows of peas, tomatoes, corn and all the other good things produced in the garden. In the bins are potatoes and apples, and on the fruit shelves are peaches, cherries, plums, berries and other fruits, with jar after jar of mother's preserves and jellies. In the barnyard there is always a fat chicken for the family dinner. There is a hog from which can come roast pork, chops, spareribs, bacon and hams, as well as the makings of sausage. There is lamb and veal and beef. You have eggs when you want them and as many as you want. You eat butter on your bread, the kind of butter only mother can make, and you do not have to be satisfied with oleomargarine, or perhaps nothing.

That old wood heater and the kitchen cookstove filled with the product of the wood lot provide the degree of heat you enjoy and you need not shiver with the thermometer limited to 60 or 65 degrees.

Under any conditions, there are many compensations for those living on the farms, but hard as the war rationings are for all of us, the farm families have the best of it in many ways. They do not have to carefully count rationing points in order to determine what they will eat—if they can get it.

HOUSEHOLD MEMOS

Put Health Into Menus With Vitamins Plus

Crisp greens give you plenty of vitamin A, B and C. Assemble them in your salads and get plenty of health insurance—you don't need points to shop for these.

What's the pep appeal of your meals these days? It should be better than ever before with spring vegetables dotting the markets colorfully in greens, yellows and reds. Many vitamin and mineral laden fruits are just coming into season so you homemakers should have no trouble getting your quota of two fruits, two vegetables and a citrus fruit into your family's diets.

In winter it is sometimes extremely difficult to meet that nutrition requirement because of the scarcity of vegetables and fruits and their consequent high prices. Now, though prices are higher than last year at this time, they are abundant, and most of us can afford to spend the extra money required to buy them.

Perhaps, you have a garden this year. You're probably planning to put up most of the produce, but you always have some crops available for immediate consumption such as lettuce, tender green shoots of onions, etc. In some parts of the country it's a bit early for some of these to make their appearance, but when they do, up and at them!

Homemakers are fortunately becoming more and more conscious of the importance of fruits and vegetables in the diet, and the more so they become, the more healthy will become each generation of Americans. Even those of you who have been deficient in these foods during the growing years will get much benefit from including these foods in your diet. A heavy meal calls for the light, crisp, "just right" feeling which fruits and vegetables supply.

Remember vitamins and minerals work hand in hand to give your body health and to keep it in good workable order. Most vegetables have many of both minerals and vitamins. It is interesting to know that greens (lettuce, parsley, watercress, turnip greens, etc.) are rich not only in iron that makes for good, rich blood, but also in vitamin A which promotes good health of skin, eyes, and keeps you buoyant and full of energy. The greens get a nice big star for being rich in Vitamin C, necessary for health of teeth and bones, and for quick healing of wounds.

Don't be surprised when the greens come in for a nice share of honors for vitamin B, also. That's the vitamin necessary for normal nutrition.

Easiest way to keep most of the vitamins intact is to serve the vegetables raw—as you would in a salad. The same goes for fruits. Don't let either of them soak in water or stand uncovered in the refrigerator—the vitamins seem to evaporate quickly, especially in the case of vitamin C, so easily lost by cooking or leaving exposed to air.

Lynn Says:
 Fresh as a Day in May! So will be your foods if you keep them properly refrigerated. Desserts to cool you off and keep your appetites unjaded, if they're to be frozen, belong right in the freezer. Meats and fish are safest kept right under the freezer in a meat-keeper if you have one.

Milk, cream and beverages are stored alongside the freezer unit. Custards, puddings, butter and dips fill the middle section nicely, are easy to get at.

Lettuces, foods prepared ahead, salads, some fruits and berries are well refrigerated when kept on one of the lower shelves. The freezer or freezer compartment just that far back from the door and refrigerator stay and well refrigerated.

The storage bin at the bottom of the refrigerator is usually non-refrigerated, and gives splendid storage to canned, crackers and some leftovers.

Keeping vegetables well refrigerated insures at least a good degree of vitamin preservation. Keep them covered, too!

Arrange your crisp raw fruits and vegetables attractively. If you'd like to have some fun, really, then take out the old geometry text, and follow some patterns you find therein—they're fine inspiration for attractive appearing vegetable and fruit dishes.

- 6 green peppers
- 1 cup cooked, elbow macaroni
- ½ pound grated American cheese
- 1 cup soft bread crumbs
- ¼ teaspoon Worcestershire sauce
- ¼ teaspoon salt

Cut a slice from top of green pepper, scoop out, and cook in boiling salted water for 5 minutes. Drain. Mix remaining ingredients, saving ½ of cheese for top. Fill peppers with mixture, stand upright in pan and sprinkle remaining cheese over top. Bake in a moderate oven 25 minutes.

Jaded appetites will respond quickly if you serve this delectable cool pudding:

- 1½ cups orange juice
- ½ cup sugar
- ¼ teaspoon salt
- 2 tablespoons lemon juice
- 2 egg whites
- ¼ cup sugar

PETER AND JOHN LEADERS IN THE EARLY CHURCH

LESSON TEXT—Acts 2:37-41; 3:1-6; 4:13; 18-21.

GOLDEN TEXT—Now when they saw the boldness of Peter and John, and perceived that they were unlearned and ignorant men, they marveled; and they took knowledge of them, that they had been with Jesus.—Acts 4:13.

Does the Church have a message for our day? Sometimes one wonders a bit, but a little thought indicates that if it does not, it is not because Christianity has failed, but because Christian people have failed to declare the eternal and powerful truth of God. The primary responsibility for any such failure must rest upon the leaders of the Church.

It is instructive to see the qualities which made the leaders of the early Church effective for the Lord. In our lesson we find Peter and John doing three things.

I. Declaring God's Word (Acts 2:37-41).

Peter had just finished the first sermon preached in the Church, which was delivered at Pentecost. The declaration of God's truth in the power of the Holy Spirit brought conviction of sin. It always does, although the outward indication of its working may not be as marked as it was on that day. Three thousand souls were under conviction and asking what to do to be saved.

What an opportunity for the preacher and his fellow worker, John. How did they meet it? By faithfully declaring the need of repentance and faith, and then of fellowship with others in the Church.

One mark of a real leader for God will always be that he preaches and teaches the message of God without adulteration, without modification, and with plainness and simplicity.

The kind of leadership which is often magnified in the Church today and which is largely made up of personal magnetism, "pep" and fast talk, is not real leadership at all. Test your leaders by their faithful and intelligent declaration of God's Word.

II. Conveying God's Power (Acts 3:1-8).

"Channels only"—that is the function of the worker for Christ, the leader in His Church. As Mary Maxwell well put it:

Channels only, blessed Master, But with all Thy wondrous power Flowing through us, Thou canst use us Every day and every hour.

Silver and gold was a scarce commodity with Peter and John, as it has been with many, yes most, of God's servants through the centuries. But they did have the blessed privilege of being channels through which the healing, cleansing, redeeming power of God could flow—and that was infinitely better.

The lame man had long since given up hope of anything better than the few coins he could beg at the temple gate. He was like many in our hard and practical age who see only the values that money can give, and thus miss the real blessing of God.

God has for men today, as He had for this beggar, that which is far better than gold—deliverance from sin and liberation from the limitations of spirit which make them content with the paltry alms of men.

Peter and John were ready to be used of God because they were men who were not too busy to pray (v. 1). Knowing the compassion of God they sought out the one in need, and by faith put the unlimited power of God to work on his behalf.

God healed this man's body, but what is more important, He healed his spirit (v. 8). We need that kind of healing for the weak-kneed, lame-ankled, spirit-darkened individuals in our communities and our churches. We will have it only as our leaders are men and women who are cleansed—ready to be channels for the conveying of God's power to a needy world.

III. Doing God's Will (Acts 4:13, 18-21).

The way of life of God's leaders is not an easy one, but it is a simple one. They do God's will—nothing less, nothing more, and nothing else. What could be more delightful?

Peter and John had spoken the truth and declared salvation to be only in the name of Jesus (v. 12). Certain easy talkers within the Church who tell us that we must not be narrow but broad enough to see salvation in all religions, had better read that verse again.

Because they had preached Christ, and for no other reason, they were imprisoned, then released on condition that they would not mention Him again. What a splendid opportunity for a smooth and comfortable compromise! They could preach but just leave out Christ. Did they do it? No! (v. 18, 20).

Obedience to God was paramount with them, and it must be with every genuinely Christian leader in the Church. Nothing else will do, nor will it have the blessing and approval of God.

Old Sweet Still Sour

A lot of West Virginia business people who did work or furnished materials and equipment for Old Sweet Springs on direct order and authorization of the state board of control are reported to have been left holding the bag. They haven't been paid, and the board says there is no money legally available with which to pay them.

They say the 1943 Legislature did not appropriate any money for Old Sweet except the little that was provided for moving the patients into real hospitals. While the statement is true, it is also true that the Legislature never did provide any money for Old Sweet. Governor Neely and his board of control simply took money belonging to Hopemont and used it up in Monroe county.

Court action by these creditors of the state is expected, even if such action means suing the board of control members and the members of the board of public works on their bonds.

Bailey "Surprised"

Cleveland M. Bailey, state budget director, has announced his "surprise" that the Legislature gave the state road commission plenty of money with which to operate.

The only surprising thing about Bailey's surprise is that he was surprised. The Legislature and the public knew long ago that the state road commission was given plenty of money for the next two years. According to Bailey, they'll even have about $1,660,000 in "free balances".

Whiskey Board Acts Wisely

The state liquor control commission has issued an order that purchasers hereafter will have to show their voter's registration card before they can buy whiskey or wine. The commission issued the order to prevent out-of-state buyers from dealing in the state's supply, and to try to prevent bootleggers stocking up at state stores.

Whatever else the order may accomplish, it will—if honestly obeyed—prevent the sale of liquor and wine to visitors.

Blames the OPA

The "blaming of the Office of Price Administration" in the Washington and Cleveland and West Virginia offices has imposed "taxes" on the people of West Virginia says a spokesman for the state association of retail grocers.

Retail store shortages have occurred in places like Harrison county, where lots of good beef cattle range the hills ready for market, and in Logan county, where workers in the mines desperately need their full portion of red meat. Vegetable shortages are also occurring at various places in the state.

The main trouble seems to be in the price ceilings. Let's face it, says the spokesman, there is a real shortage of commodities that the OPA has set a price on. It is not in Ohio and that secretary isn't got it.

It's Their Privilege!

In 1938, Governor M. M. Neely sent to the United States Senate a bill to have the OPA's regulations which require the OPA to give a license to anyone who wants to sell the commodities for a short period. Today, Mr. Neely is warning that the OPA is not getting its act together and that the secretary isn't got it.

We're on our way, a call to pay. As we once did before It's just and fair, Hary Hitler, In love or bloody war

We'll soon be there, to hear your prayer This time you'll not get by, Your Horde's have trod, forbidden sod, And watched your victims die.

It won't be long, until the dawn, When you must stand alone, A bloody war to answer for And reap that which you've sown.

Nations that fell, 'mid shot and shell, Beneath your murd'rous might, Will rise again, to face when, Your day has turned to night.

They'll strew your path, with thorns of wrath, From which there'll be no flight, In vain you'll call for rocks to fall, And hide you from their sight.

Cher up oppressed, there'll soon be rest, America has come To set you free from Tyranny, And banish Nazi scum.

We ride the breeze, o'er land and seas, We sail the ocean blue To join hands in Foreign Lands, With men whose hearts are true.

We stand, we fight, for freedoms right, That all men might be free, Our code is peace that cannot cease, Love, Life, and Liberty.

Our Banner waves o'er soldier's graves, In many Foreign Lands, We ask no pay, that's just our way— Loyal Americans.

To God we trust a cause that's just, Our own Democracy; Give us, O Lord, as our reward Unchallenged Victory.

New Deal, Mr. Roosevelt said that he was spending billions of the peoples money for WPA projects instead of for preparation for war. When far-seeing citizens urged that the boys in the CCC camps be given rudimentary military training, without guns, simply to build them up physically, the administration refused.

Today, Mr. Roosevelt suggests that it would be a good thing for all young men to serve at least one year in the army.

State House Has Candidate

The state house candidate for the Democratic nomination for governor will be Bailey—not Ernest, of the road commission, but Senator Robert D. Bailey, of Wyoming county, former judge of the circuit court there.

That's the way things stack up now. The Kump-Holt, or anti-Neely wing of the party, has no candidate in the paddock right now, but its scouts are beating the bushes to see if they can't find some one to carry their colors in the race which is just one year away.

Pfc. Loy Ray Hively, Jr., of 30 Second avenue, who is stationed at the Army Air Force Technical School in Chicago, Ill., was called home last Thursday night to be with his wife, the former Miss Frances McCormick, who gave birth to a daughter at the Pocahontas Memorial hospital early Friday morning. The young lady, who weighed seven pounds and thirteen ounces at birth, has been named Mina Alice, those being the names of her two grandmothers.

Miss Ann Schmalzried was the bride's attendant. She wore an Army gray suit, a Roman striped hat, and a corsage of gardenias. The groom's attendant was Sergeant James R. Kornstein of Coldwater, Michigan.

Before the ceremony Miss Alma Epsay accompanied by Mrs. Virginia Shotwell, sang "Ah Sweet Mystery of Life" and "I Love You Truly." During the ceremony, Mrs. Shotwell played MacDowell's "To A Wild Rose." The traditional wedding marches were also played.

The bride's mother was attired in a navy sheer trimmed with white and wore a corsage of white gardenias. The bride's grandmother, Mrs. Philip Schwarz, wore a blue bemburg with a corsage of pink carnations. A reception followed the ceremony.

The three-tiered wedding cake with sugar spun rosebuds and birds in pastel shades topped with a miniature soldier groom and bride was encircled by white carnations and maidenhair fern. Mrs. Gene Schwarz cut the cake and Mrs. Robert Van Burkleo and Mrs. F. R. Jones served the punch. White carnations were also used on the buffet and elsewhere in the dining room. Miss Peggy Schwarz sister of the bride, presided at the moire satin bride's book which was designed by the groom.

A member of a pioneer Valley family, the bride is a popular member of the younger social set. She attended Mercedes high school where she was business manager of the Tiger and a member of the band. She graduated from Galena Park high school at Houston, and attended the business college at Harlingen. She is now employed at the First National Bank.

Kathryn Schwarz, Sgt. Grady F. Herold Married In Texas

Mercedes, Texas.—The soft glow of lighted tapers gave the only illumination for the marriage of Mrs. Kathryn Schwarz, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. D. J. Schwarz, and Sgt. Grady Filmore Herold, son of Mr. and Mrs. W. L. Herold, of Minnehaha Springs, West Virginia, Saturday evening, April 17, at the home of the bride's parents. The Rev. Charles A. Tucker read the impressive double ring ceremony.

Banked with woodwardia fern and flanked by two tall white baskets of calla lilies, the fireplace was transformed into a beautiful alter-like setting. In the central niche a Madonna vase filled with baby calla lilies was accented with burning tapers. On the piano in a crystal bowl was a calla lily arrangement with glowing tapers.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride was gowned in white chiffon fashioned with long full sleeves and a sweetheart neckline. Bands of satin on the skirt, sleeves and belt gave a shadow applique effect. A small flower ornamented hat with veil completed her attire. On her prayerbook she carried a bouquet of stephanotis which was arranged around a white orchid.

Miss Ann Schmalzried was the bride's attendant. She wore an Army gray suit, a Roman striped hat, and a corsage of gardenias. The groom's attendant was Sergeant James R. Kornstein of Coldwater, Michigan.

Seabees Great Performers

Although it is scarcely a year since the first Seabee Battalion arrived at Island "X" to build the first springboard for America's global offensive, the record of this newest branch of the Navy staggers the imagination. All over the world, bases, airfields, and dock facilities have sprung up. Seabees, working at top speed, sometimes 24 hours a day, have carved modern bases out of primitive jungles.

A large proportion of Seabees are former union men, who were recruited with the close cooperation of Unions everywhere.

The list that follows gives some idea of the marvelous work accomplished by Seabees in less than a year of operation:

2. Took over the public works maintenance and operation of the Navy's bases in the United Kingdom.
3. Assisted in the North African movement which occurred in November.
4. Augmented civilian forces in Iceland to insure more rapid completion of the Navy's facilities in that country, and afforded a public works maintenance and operating force for all completed activities.
5. Augmented contractor's civilian forces in Argentina to insure more rapid completion of the Navy's facilities at that outpost.
6. Augmented contractor's civilian forces in Bermuda, Trinidad and various outlying bases in the 15th Naval District, and at the same time took over the public works maintenance and operation of all of these bases.
7. Took over practically all of the advanced base construction work throughout the territory of Alaska, including Dutch Harbor, Kodiak, Sitka and other points.
8. Replaces all contractor's civilian employees at outlying bases of the 14th Naval District, and carried to completion a large portion of the work contemplated for each of these bases. They are now maintaining and operating these bases insofar as the public works functions are concerned.
9. Constructed and continuing to construct advanced base facilities for the fleet throughout the vast Pacific area.

Forest Service Experiments With Russian Dandelion

Department of Agriculture has undertaken the experimental production of Kok-saghyz or Russian dandelion on 750 acres in the northern part of the United States as an emergency source of rubber. The 1943 acreage will be confined to the northern tier of states where soil and climatic conditions have been found most suitable for the growing of the Russian rubber tree.

Kidneys Must Work Well-

For You To Feel Well

24 hours every day, 7 days every week, never stopping, the kidneys filter waste matter from the blood.

If more people were aware of how the kidneys must constantly remove surplus fluid, excess acids and other waste matter that cannot stay in the blood without injury to health, there would be better understanding of why the whole system is upset when kidneys fail to function properly.

Burning, scanty or too frequent urination sometimes warns that something is wrong. You may suffer nagging backache, headaches, dizziness, rheumatic pains, getting up at night, swelling.

Why not try Doan's Pills? You will be using a medicine recommended the country over. Doan's stimulate the function of the kidneys and help them to flush out poisonous waste from the blood. They contain nothing harmful. Get Doan's today. Use with confidence. At all drug stores.

THE STORY SO FAR: The story of their part in the battle for the Philippines is being told by four of the five naval officers who are all that is left of Motor Torpedo Boat Squadron 3. They are: Lieut. John Bulkeley (now Lieutenant Commander), squadron commander; Lieut. R. B. Kelly, second-in-command; and Ensigns Anthony Akers and George E. Cox Jr. After learning that Pearl Harbor had been bombed, Lieut. Bulkeley ordered Lieut. Kelly to take three of the six torpedo boats to Bataan where they would get provisions and fuel from a submarine tender. But when they arrived, they found that the tender had been ordered away. So they set up headquarters in Sisman Cove.

CHAPTER II

"For the most part we lived on our boats—had to, because we never knew when we would have to haul out into the bay in case of a dive-bomber attack. Anyway we had a base again.

"Next, we found our barges loaded with gasoline in drums which had been towed out into the bay for us by the navy—if they got smacked by bombs, they didn't want them burning near the wharves. There was nobody in charge but a watchman. Each boat holds two thousand gallons, and of course it was a job pouring all that through a funnel.

"We noticed, as we poured, that this gas had both water and rust in it—yet there was no way to strain it out; we had no chamois. What we couldn't then know was, this gas had been sabotaged. We'll never find out when or where—the guy who did it is safe, if he's alive. But someone had dissolved wax in it—wax which congealed inside our gas tanks in a coat half an inch thick—wax which clogged our filters so that sometimes we'd have to stop and clean them after an hour's run. That's the fuel we had to fight the war on, we were to find out.

"Then I went over to the section base to make arrangements for our food, and we got another bump. The navy already realized a food shortage was coming and cut us down to two rations a day—breakfast and supper. All you got for lunch was stomach cramps about noon. There was plenty of them.

"I also thought I'd better have the doctor look at my finger. I'd snagged it a few days before and hadn't paid much attention, but now it was swollen about as thick as a walnut. I guessed maybe it was a minor strep infection. What I didn't know was that out East the streptococci are bigger and meaner than bulldogs and not to be fooled with. He took one look and began to talk about the hospital, but I said the hell with that. I was the second officer of the squadron and badly needed.

"We settled that I'd come over to see this doctor daily.

"The big alarm came at noon on December 10—we'd pulled up alongside a mine sweeper for water when word came that a large flight of Jap planes was headed toward the Manila area, coming from the direction of Formosa. We pulled away from the tender, out into open water, and fifteen minutes later we saw them—several formations—I counted about twenty-seven to twenty-nine planes in each—two-motor bombers—lovely, tight, parade-ground formations, coming over at about 25,000 feet. But, I thought, when our fighters get up there and start rumpiling their hair, those formations won't look so pretty. Only where were our fighters? The Japs passed on out of sight over the mountains, and then we began hearing the rumble of bombs—only first we felt the vibrations on our feet, even out there in the water, and we knew something was catching hell. But what? Manila? Maybe Nichols Field? Or even Cavite, our own base? We couldn't know."

"I did," said Bulkeley laconically. "I was there, at Cavite. The Admiral sent us a two-hour warning that they were coming—from Formosa, and headed on down in our direction across Northern Luzon. So we hauled our boats out into the bay. They kept beautiful formations, all right. The first big V had fifty-four planes in it, and they came in at about 20,000, with their fighters on up above to protect them from our anti-air didn't show! We couldn't figure it. First they swung east Manila and began to pass the harbor shipping. It was a beautiful clear day, and I remember the sun made rainbows on the water's surface of their bombs. They were from a hundred and fifty to two hundred feet high, and it made a sort of screen as they came so they could tell what was happening to the ships. It turned out nothing much was hit—except one ship."

"That was the big formation I picked out, and I saw one Cavite—except nothing in it—a flock of well-dispersed formations."

"They went too high to see the boats, but they were looking at the ships from above, getting a good view of the harbor shipping. They were from a hundred and fifty to two hundred feet high, and it made a sort of screen as they came so they could tell what was happening to the ships. It turned out nothing much was hit—except one ship."

It was their first crack at the Japs. I remember Chalker's face; he's a machinist's mate from Texas—a shootin' Texas boy. He was pouring 50-caliber slugs up at them, cooler than a pall of cracked ice, but that long, straight, pointed jaw of his was set. Houlihan, who was firing the other pair of 50's, was the same. They'd picked out one plane and were pouring it up into the sky, when we saw the plane wobble, and pretty soon she took off down the bay, weaving unsteadily, smoking, and all at once, two or three miles away, she just wobbled down into the drink with a big splash. So we know the 35 boat got one. Meanwhile the 31 boat had shot down two more. After that the planes didn't bother strafing the MTB's. Guess the Jap pilots back at their Formosa base passed the word around.

"We went on back to Cavite and offered to carry more wounded. The big base was one sheet of flame except for the ammunition depot. Only a piece of the dock was left, and through the shimmering flames you could see only jagged walls. Then we saw Admiral Rockwell—he was directing the fire apparatus which was trying to save the depot. He is a tall man, a fine figure of a sailor, but his head was down that day. In a dead voice he told us we'd better get out—that the magazine was liable to go up any minute. We offered to take him with us to Mariveles, but he said no, his job was here, to do what he could to save the magazines.

"So we picked up from the gutters and streets a lot of cans of food we knew we would need—they were from the bombed warehouses—stacked them in the boat, and set out."

"I was back there a couple of days later after the fires were out," said Ensign Cox, a good-looking yellow-haired youngster from up-state New York. "They were burying the dead—which consisted of collecting heads and arms and legs and putting them into the nearest bomb crater and shoveling debris over it. The smell was terrible. The Filipino yard workers didn't have much stomach for the job, but it had to be done and done quick because of disease. To make them work, they filled the Filipinos up with grain alcohol.

"That raid gave me my first big shock of the war," said Lieutenant Kelly, "but it wasn't the damage they did. From over in Mariveles I couldn't see what was happening after the Jap bombers disappeared over the mountain. I got my shock after they had unloaded and flew over us on their way home—the same beautiful tight formations—not a straggler. Where was our air force?"

"But it wasn't until Lieutenant DeLang dropped in at four o'clock in the 41 boat that I knew how bad off we were. He said the Cavite base was a roaring blast furnace—the yard littered with those mangled and scorched hulks—and furthermore that all our spare parts for the MTB's—engines and everything—had been blasted to bits. Machine shops completely gone. Not as much as a gasket left to see us through this war, with the factory halfway around the world."

Manila I saw something very queer—shipping of all descriptions was pouring out of that Manila breakwater into the open harbor—destroyers, mine sweepers, Yangtze River gunboats, tramp steamers, all going hell for breakfast. And then I saw them—a big formation of about twenty-seven bombers. By then I was beginning to learn that if we saw planes in the air, they would be Japs, not ours. Then came another formation of twenty-nine, and still another of twenty-six.

"If they were after shipping, we shouldn't get too close to the other boats, so I changed course. They wheeled majestically around the bay's perimeter, and each time they Passed Manila a load would go whistling down and presently huge columns of black and white smoke began rising—we could even see some fires, although we were still eleven miles away.

"Where in hell is our air force?" our crew kept asking me. "Why in Christ's name don't they do something?"

"But the thing that really got me was that these big Jap formations, circling the bay like it was a parade maneuver, each time would sail impudently right over Corregidor! Didn't they know we had anti-aircraft guns?"

"They knew all right, but it turned out they knew something I didn't. For presently all twenty of Corregidor's 3-inchers opened fire, and it made me sick to see that every one of their shells was bursting from 5,000 to 10,000 feet below that Jap formation. Those pilots were as safe as though they'd been home in bed. Later I found out what the Japs apparently already knew—that the Rock's anti-aircraft guns didn't have the range. And only then did it begin to dawn on me how completely impotent we were.

"When the Japs cleared out," continued Bulkeley, "Kelly and I headed for Manila and docked about three o'clock. When we reported, Commander Slocum told me the Admiral was considering sending our three boats on a raid off Lingayen, and were we ready? We said we were rarin' to go. So he said to stick around a couple of hours, and meanwhile to load the boats with files, records, and so forth, because they were moving headquarters. It had escaped so far, but right here on the water front it was too vulnerable—sure to get smacked. Through the open door we could see the Admiral conferring with his chief of staff.

"But just then," said Kelly, "Commander Slocum looked down at my arm, which was in a sling, frowned, and said I should get over to see the fleet doctor. The doctor took off the bandage and began to talk tough. Said he couldn't do anything, and that I was to get that arm to a hospital as fast as I could.

"I was dead set on that raid, but I decided it wouldn't be tactful to bring that up, so I said, 'Aye, aye, sir,' and skipped it. We loaded the boat with records, and then went back to headquarters, where we were told that the Jap convoy off Lingayen included eight transports and at least two battleships (one of these must have been the one that Colin Kelly later got), but that we weren't going to be sent. They were saving us for 'bigger things.'

"My God!" my junior officer said later, "I didn't know they came any bigger! What do they think we are?"

"Anyway the Admiral patted Bulkeley on the shoulder and said, 'We know you boys want to get in there and fight, but there's no sense sending you on suicidal missions—just now.'

"So that was that, and we went on out across the bay, to our thatched village."

"You might call the next few days quiet for us, although my arm began giving me hell."

"Presently Bulkeley dropped in on us in the 41 boat, bringing us some stuff issued by the navy to replace everything we'd lost at our quarters in Cavite—a shirt each, underdrawers, a few tubes of toothpaste, and razors—two for each boat, one for the men and one for the officers. But with each razor there were only three packages of blades, so we saw beards in the offing."

SOMEBODY'S STENO

TO YOUR Good Health by DR. JAMES W. BARTON

Released by Western Newspaper Union. HOW MUCH FOOD SHOULD YOU EAT?

You may think that food requirements were measured in vitamins but before the discovery of vitamins the amount and kinds of food that should be eaten daily were measured in calories. A calorie is a measured amount of heat, that is, the amount of heat required to raise one kilogram of water (a little over two pounds) one degree centigrade (which is about 2 1/2 degrees Fahrenheit). Thus the average diet was made up of one part protein—meat, eggs, fish, two parts fats—butter, cream, fat meats and four parts starches—bread, potatoes, fruits and vegetables. In calories this would mean about 400 of proteins, 800 of fats and 1,600 of vegetables and fruits daily for average man doing some work daily. This method of calorie measurement is still in use.

In an article on nutrition in the Journal of the American Medical Association, Drs. Eugene F. DuBois and William H. Chambers, New York city, state:

The amount of heat given off by the resting man of average size (at complete rest and no digestion going on) is about equal to the heat of a 60-watt electric bulb or the flame of an alcohol lamp about one inch high. A man exercising hard equals the heat of 10 such lamps. As most of us are not at complete rest all the time, nor are we working hard all the time, the amount of food needed will depend upon how much we rest and how hard we work. Thus one table of the number of calories needed by various trades is:

Men: Tailor, 2,600; bookbinder, 3,000; shoemaker, 3,100; cabinet-maker, 3,500 to 3,600; stone mason, 4,700 to 5,200; wood sawyer, 5,500 to 6,000. There are other trades such as moulders or foundrymen, stokers, molten metal workers and others where 6,000 calories are needed daily.

Women: Stenographer or office worker, 2,000 calories; seamstress with hand needle, 2,000; seamstress with machine, 2,100 to 2,300; book-binder, 2,100 to 2,300; household worker, 2,500 to 3,200; washer-women, 2,900 to 3,700.

Facts About Acne, Pimples

Although the various methods of treatment help many cases of acne (pimples), the actual cause of acne is not fully known. Because it occurs at or near the age of puberty, most physicians believe that acne is in some way connected with the changes in the glands which causes boys and girls to emerge into men and women.

In the Journal of Clinical Endocrinology, Dr. Hamilton, Yale medical school, reports results in cases where he was able to bring on acne in certain individuals. He found that giving the hormone or extract of the male sex gland to boys who had not reached puberty, some of them developed blackheads, pimples, with and without pus formation. When the treatment with the sex hormone was stopped, the pimples became smaller and disappeared. When given again, the pimples returned.

This does not mean that this gland extract is the only factor entering into the cause of acne as diet, heredity, and infection may also be factors. However, despite other factors, the pimples appeared only when the sex hormone was given. "There seems to be something in this male hormone substance that stimulates the sebaceous or oil glands of the skin."

For this reason, Dr. Hamilton suggests that as there is some relation between the thyroid gland—the master gland of the body—and the sex glands, there is logical reason for the use of desiccated thyroid gland extract in cases of acne at the time of puberty. The thyroid extract checks any excess of oil pouring out from the oil glands on the skin and stimulates the skin cells to a more normal activity. The thyroid extract stimulates all the body processes and therefore the skin. Excellent results have been obtained by using viosterol by mouth and also by the use of injections of pituitary extract. As with all extracts, this should be done under supervision of a physician.

WHY PUT UP WITH CONSTIPATION?

If you suffer from that common form of constipation due to lack of "bulk" in your diet, dosing yourself with harsh cathartics and laxatives will give you only temporary relief. However, adding KELLOGG'S ALL-BRAN to your regular diet and drinking plenty of water will not only get at the cause of such constipation, but will correct it. KELLOGG'S ALL-BRAN is a delicious breakfast cereal that, unlike medicinal purges, doesn't work chiefly on you—but works principally on the contents of your colon. Try KELLOGG'S ALL-BRAN, eat as directed, see if it doesn't help you, too!

SNAPPY FACTS ABOUT RUBBER

Chewing gum and rubber tires have something in common. They both are the products of latex-bearing trees. The chicle latex, from which chewing gum is made, has a high resin and low rubber content. Rubber latex has the reverse characteristics. Chicle and Castilla rubber trees are found in much the same areas in Central America.

Synthetic rubber tractor tires have been under tests by B. F. Goodrich engineers for close to a year. When synthetic rubber becomes available in sufficient quantities, farmers may expect such tires on their tractors.

A Russian rubber-bearing plant is now being successfully grown in the United States. Its value to the American rubber program, however, is still undetermined.

Tire retapping has proved its worth-time value. But the retapping should be done before the tread rubber of the tire is completely worn.

Make Large Use of Wood To Replace Vital Steel

The War Production Board has published a booklet on Truck Use which gives some facts on the uses of wood in the war and which points out the importance of wood at this time. Some of the facts are:

Enough steel for 100,000 medium trucks is being saved through the use of wood as a substitute for critical materials.

More than a million and a quarter tons of paperboard will be used in 1943 for package food, supplies, and containers for various shipments. This is the equivalent of 1,200,000 truck loads of gypsum.

Each Liberty cargo ship takes 200,000 board feet of lumber. Use of wood saves 200 tons of steel in each ship.

Wood, most of it American, makes up one-third of the weight of all trucks, ambulances and other military vehicles.

The use of wood is stressed in "Wood for Victory" paper which is given to each soldier as a part of his training.

Wood is used in many other ways. It is used in the construction of bridges, roads, and other military equipment.

saving 42,000 tons of steel. There are about 40,000 board feet of lumber in every C-62 "Commando" cargo plane.

An average New England spruce tree yields enough nitro cellulose to provide the powder for thirty-five 105 mm. shells or 7,500 Garand rifle cartridges.

Each deck of a big battleship takes 100,000 board feet of lumber — 10 carloads.

There is no doubt that these figures will make every Pocahontas county woodsman proud of his contribution to the war and the soldiers, sailors and marines can be sure that our woodsmen will do their best as individuals to keep the supplies rolling along.

NEW METHOD CLEANS SEPARATOR TWICE DAILY IN 4 MINUTES

Washing the separator in the morning and merely rinsing it after the evening separation usually takes about—

15 MINUTES

One of the least-liked farm chores is all but eliminated as the result of the development by Prof. A. W. Rahn, of Iowa State College, of a new method which makes it possible for the rural homemaker to wash her separator in only two minutes—four minutes a day. The best separator cleaning method used up to now takes at least six times as long, to say nothing of the drudgery involved.

The new method makes use neither of soap nor washing powder. Instead, it utilizes a "wetting agent" compound of the variety that have become so popular recently with housewives for many kitchen and bathroom chores. The wetting agent compound—and there are any number on the market—not only radiantly cuts down the time required to clean the separator but also does a much better job of cleaning than has been achieved heretofore. The new washing procedure calls for no special equipment, and requires only one pail of warm water solution which is also used to wash the pails, cans and other dairy equipment.

The full importance of this method can be appreciated when it is realized that a dirty separator is the principal source of contamination in cream. Because separator is slow and laborious, and, if improperly done, in all cases the separator becomes a breeding place for bacteria. A likely result is grade cream for which the producer receives a low price, a loss for the creamery which produces it, and butter which will be particularly unpalatable. There is going to be little for any of this now that an effective washing method has been devised which requires a time to wash the separator daily than is required by the usual method.

Full information concerning this new method and complete directions for using it may be had from National Cream Quality Program, 110 North Franklin Street, Chicago, Illinois.

Cooperative Asks Key Distributors Be Reclassified

A resolution, passed by the board of directors of Southern States Cooperative, requesting the classification of irreplaceable key men engaged in the distribution of farm production supplies into a deferred draft class "in order to avoid a complete breakdown in the furnishing of essential production supplies to farmers" has just been sent to War Manpower Commissioner Paul V. McNutt.

This resolution has also gone to Major-General Lewis B. Hershey, Director of Selective Service, and Chester C. Davis, Food Administrator, according to a statement made today by W. G. Wysox, Richmond, Va. general manager of the cooperative, an organization of 141,225 farmers in Virginia, West Virginia, Maryland, Delaware, and North Carolina.

"The production of food and fibre is recognized as an essential element in the prosecution of the war, and the manufacture, processing, and distribution of farm production supplies is a vital prerequisite to such production," the resolution points out. "The key men involved in such distribution are not merely purveyors, but are in fact agricultural specialists and technical advisers to farmers, and must be possessed of special training, skill, and technical ability, to a degree which is not generally available, and which in fact makes such men irreplaceable under present circumstances."

The resolution takes cognizance of the fact that to some extent key men engaged in the manufacture and processing of food have been granted deferment, but the same consideration has not been extended to men in the field of the distribution of supplies.

Groups of key men engaged in the distribution of farm production supplies who are listed in the resolution as irreplaceable include those embracing district supervision, local managers in charge, and proprietors. The manufacture and processing of essential production supplies for farmers are "futile aids to production, unless supplemented by efficient distribution," the resolution declares. "A breakdown in any link of the chain of service in farm production supplies will seriously impede farm production."

Your Scrap Needed For Nation's Scrap

At a meeting of the County Salvage Committee last Friday evening, in charge of Z. S. Smith, Jr., chairman, plans were formulated to renew efforts in Pocahontas county to gather in the scrap which is so desperately needed in the nation's war program.

Guy R. Faulkner was asked to secure funds through donations to underwrite the project; Mrs. Grady Moore and Miss Margaret Irvine were appointed to compile a list of persons who will consent to donate their scrap; prospects are that Oley Jackson will be in charge of gathering, weighing and shipping the junk; and state road commission trucks are to be made available for hauling the donated material without cost.

Thus the way is pretty generally opened for every person in the county to respond in some way—by gift of money or scrap material—to the most vital need of our country today.

Copper, brass, tin, heavy iron and other junk will be put into the guns and ammunition which the soldiers need. Boy Scouts, in charge of Jack Richardson, will gather clean tin cans if they are notified of their existence.

Apparently the only thing lacking to make this 1943 scrap drive a huge success is the part which all citizens will be expected to take—and that is to take the program seriously, to donate scrap—and do it now!

Geological Survey Issues Ohio River Basin Report

The United States Geological Survey in cooperation with West Virginia and other eastern states, has released its report on the Ohio River Basin. This report is one of a series of fourteen on the "Surface Water of the United States," and should prove helpful to industries seeking suitable locations for plants requiring abundant water supply.

Made in cooperation with the West Virginia Geological Survey and Public Service Commission; and agencies of other States, the report consists of records of stage, and measurements of discharge of the Monongahela, Allegheny, Big Sandy and other tributaries of the Ohio. It also includes general information used to supplement the records of stage and discharge measurements in daily flow of these rivers.

The data have been collected and recorded at various gaging stations established at strategic places along the banks of the Ohio, its tributaries, and their tributaries. The kind of gage used at each station, the latitude and longitude of its location, and other information concerning conditions which cause the river to rise or fall, or flow swiftly or slowly are described.

This report coupled with the W. Va. Geological Survey's publication of H. M. Erskine's report on the "Surface Water Supply of West Virginia," should be valuable references for anyone faced with water supply and other hydraulic problems.

Three Navy Bombers Forced Down Here

A stir of excitement swept over Marlinton last Sunday evening when three large Curtiss-Wright Navy dive bombers encountered weather-heads and fog in the Pocahontas mountains and were brought to a forced landing on the Marlinton airport.

According to various reports, the young aviators who were ferrying the bombers across this area, became lost in the difficult weather, and finally sighted Carl L. Sheets, Marlinton's flying mayor and business man, who was aloft in his private plane, and they followed him to the airport.

Hundreds of local citizens hurried to the landing field to view the fighting planes, quickly congesting the road and swarming over the field.

At the Journal's press time, the Navy pilots were still grounded here due to the soggy condition of the airport field following heavy rains. It was rumored that it might be possible the planes would have to be dismantled and trucked to the Elkins airport before they could continue the flight to their destination.

The Navy fliers have been guests at the Rexrode Tourist home during their stay in Marlinton.

Report Survey For Army Encampment In County

Although no official confirmation has been given, there has been much talk in Marlinton recently concerning reported visits of U. S. Army officers purported to be contemplating the establishment of an Army center in Pocahontas county. The reports have stated that the officials were investigating, railway, hospital, land area, and other facilities for the accommodation of several thousand soldiers who would be given instruction in mountain warfare in this vicinity.

"Golden Horseshoe" Winners Are Announced

Winners in the county's West Virginia Club "Golden Horseshoe" contests were announced here this week as follows:

Max White, first; Joan Overholt, second; Darius Moore, third, all pupils of Miss Luella Gibson's eighth grade at Marlinton graded school, and Mary Hunter of the Greenbrier Hill colored school.

The board which graded the contestants was composed of H. Arnold Yeager, principal of Marlinton high school, and Fred Davis and Jack Richardson, high school teachers.

The examination pertains to the history and geography of the state. It also was announced that winners will not go to Charleston for awards this year, as has been the custom, and that the trophies will be presented at the graduation exercises of the various schools.

THE BIGGER THEY COME THE HARDER THEY FALL

A few weeks ago one of our town boys arrived home after lambasting the Japs in the Pacific. He wore the decorations given by his Government to heroes of the first water. We looked this chap over from top to bottom and from stem to stern. He exploded in olden days: "Your hero always should be a giant." He proved to us that gameness knows no size. For instance, a pumpkin is far bigger than a cucumber, yet while the busy sticks until the last moments, the pumpkin is a shriveled, dried-up, brown, and shriveled. The American soldier has demonstrated to the world that boys named under Old Glory know little or nothing about warfare, still they can go into the jungles, mountains, deserts, or air and whip the tar out of their enemies and send them back to the great customers of War.

Allies Tighten Tunisia Trap on Axis; Russ Offensive in Caucasus Menaces Germans' Bridgehead at Novorossisk; FDR Envisions Postwar Youth Service

Adm. William F. Halsey, commander of the U. S. naval forces in the South Pacific (right) is shown as he conferred with Hon. Walter Nash, New Zealand minister to the U. S., following Nash's arrival at Allied headquarters recently. Nash visited Halsey during an inspection tour of Pacific islands in which New Zealand troops are active.

TUNISIA: Smooth Teamwork

Irresistibly the Allied offensive in North Africa had rolled on toward Tunis and Bizerte. Like well-co-ordinated teams the various commands performed their tasks. Principal objective of the British First Army had been the Axis last mountain barrier before the plain of Tunis in the Medjez-El-Bab sector. Chief assignment of Lieutenant General Patton's American troops had been the overwhelming of three enemy hill positions on the road to Bizerte. And although the American forces ran into heavy counterblows in their enveloping tactics around Mateur and Tebourba, they had continued to drive ahead.

While these two strategic movements were being carried out as a prelude to a combined Allied assault, French troops in the south executed a maneuver that had cut the Pont-du-Fahs-Enfidaville road and exposed the flank of the Axis troops facing General Montgomery's Eighth Army.

While the Germans faced the inevitable decision of final surrender or annihilation their commanders were using every possible device to slow down the Allied advance. Resistance against the British First Army had stiffened sharply at the crest of Bou Aoukaz mountain, overlooking the valley to Tunis.

RUSSIA: Battles in the Air

While Berlin reports announced that a large-scale Russian offensive had been undertaken against the Nazis' Kuban bridgehead in the Caucasus, Moscow communiques said that aerial fighting was the principal activity along the far-flung front.

This aerial activity had various significances on various sectors. In the Caucasus, the Russian strategy was to wear down Nazi air power and thus enhance the Red Army's efforts at dislodging the Germans from their bridgehead around Novorossisk.

In east Prussia, Red aerial bombing assaults were directed at breaking up concentrations of German troops and supplies being prepared for Hitler's spring invasion.

REFUGEES:

U. S.-Britain to Aid Plans to ease the plight of war refugees in areas outside of occupied Europe and to reject any measure that might involve bargaining with Germany were believed by observers to have been embodied in a set of recommendations agreed on by delegates to the Anglo-American conference on refugee problems, held in Washington, Thursday. Observers indicated that the conference's recommendations include the temporary relocation in Africa of 10,000 refugees now in neutral countries until the end of the war, as well as provisions for the feeding and care of refugees unable to leave neutral countries.

WITHHOLDING TAX:

Soothing words to taxpayers faced with rising federal levies were spoken by Chairman Doughton of the House Ways and Means committee who declared that the 20 per cent withholding provision of the pending pay-as-you-go tax bills "will not result in a single extra dollar being taken from the taxpayers' pocket-book."

"The proposed 20 per cent withholding is only a method of collecting currently all or part of the taxes imposed by the existing tax laws," he said.

Mr. Doughton said that from some persons will be withheld more than is needed to pay their taxes and from others, less. Refunds will be made later if too much has been withheld.

"All salary and wage earners will be called upon to file a regular income tax return on March 15," he said. "The amount which has been withheld from their wages will be credited against the actual tax owed."

RUSS-POLES: Issue Is Territory

Territorial differences came to the fore as the principal issue at stake in the Polish-Soviet controversy, although the break in diplomatic relations had been caused by a demand of the Polish government-in-exile for an investigation of the alleged massacre by Russians of 10,000 Polish troops in the Smolensk region.

In a statement which neither opened nor closed the door to reconciliation, Premier Sikorski affirmed the Polish government's policy of aiming at friendly relations with Russia, but challenged the Soviet's right to claim the western Ukraine and western Belo-Russia.

The Poles demand a return of the eastern part of the territory they ruled before their 1939 collapse. The Russians who took this land over, and were in turn routed by the 1941 German invasion, say that the land is historically theirs.

Whether the controversy could be breached remained a problem for United Nations' chancelleries to worry about.

ALEUTIANS: RCAF Joins Raids

American airmen keeping up their marathon bombing tactics in the Aleutians were joined by Canadian pilots flying U. S. Warhawk fighters in attacks on Jap-held positions on Kiska.

Whether the bombings were a softening-up prelude to American land and naval action against the Aleutians or a diversion to hamper enemy activity observers did not know. But they were unanimous in their opinion that any assault on the Jap-held Aleutian positions would be considerably more difficult than had the American offensive against South Pacific Guadalcanal.

A naval communique said that the continuing raids, made by Liberator and Mitchell bombers and Warhawk and Lightning fighters scored damaging results on the main camp area and runway on Kiska.

MASSACRE: Japs Ape Nazis

Employing the same terroristic technique that their Nazi partners had used in massacring the inhabitants of Lidice, Czechoslovakia, Jap troops slaughtered every man, woman and child in the coastal areas of China where many of Maj. Gen. James H. Doolittle's fliers had landed after the bombing of Tokyo.

This latest sequel to the Japs' execution of some of the American fliers captured after the raid was related by Secretary of the Treasury Morgenthau, in an address in San Francisco.

Reports covering the Chinese "Lidice" were received from Generalissimo Chiang Kai-shek, who declared that the Japs had reproduced on a wholesale scale the horrors which the Nazis had inflicted in Czechoslovakia.

BOOM: Postwar View Bright

A potential era of "unparalleled prosperity" faces the United States as soon as the war ends, the department of commerce reported. "The major potentials," the report said, "will be present the day after victory is won—employment on an unprecedentedly high level, the time, national income at all hardy dreamed of in pre-war years, and an unmeasured demand for goods denied to the consumer by the war's exactions."

One "big problem," the department asserted, is to prepare now to so manage these factors as to translate potentials into realities, adding that this is "primarily the job of private enterprise, aided and supported by government."

TEEN-AGE: Workers Aid War

More than 1,000,000 boys and girls between 14 and 18 years of age will hold full or part-time jobs this summer, Katherine Lenroot, chief of the Children's Bureau of the department of labor, said.

Miss Lenroot urged local communities to protect the health of boys and girls of high school age who are combining school with part-time jobs, working through vacations, or entering full-time jobs.

HEAD INJURIES

For a number of years I treated all the injured athletic students of a large university. Fortunately, most of the injuries were cuts, bruises, dislocations and occasional fractures, with not infrequent head injuries causing unconsciousness. For many years also I treated all the injured amateur and professional boxers and wrestlers in which head injuries were not uncommon. While most cases of head concussion recovered consciousness in minutes and often seconds, I often wondered if I made them take sufficient rest before resuming athletic activities.

This whole question of how soon after a blow that has caused unconsciousness, the patient should resume his regular occupation, has been studied by Dr. H. Cairns: some of his findings are recorded in the Proceedings of the Royal Society of Medicine.

"In deciding when a patient should be fit to return to work, it is necessary to bear in mind the severity of his injury, and the best yardstick at present available is the length of time he was unconscious after the injury. The shortest time in which ability to carry out full work may be expected to return is as follows:

"If unconscious for five minutes to one hour—four to six weeks.

"If unconscious one to 24 hours—six to eight weeks.

"If unconscious one to seven days—two to four months.

"If unconscious over seven days—four to eight months.

"If patient was very tired when injured, more time should be given. The type of work must also be considered as a simple task may be resumed earlier than one which calls for much brain effort.

"Almost every patient who makes a full recovery from concussion suffers at a certain stage of his recovery from headaches. In mild cases headaches usually occur early and disappear, whereas in more severe cases headaches appear much later, in fact after patient is well enough to return home though not to work."

U. S. Army Is 'On Alert' For Chemical Warfare

Many Developments in Gas Warfare Date From World War I; America Thought to Have Greatest Potential Gas Offensive.

By BAUKHAGE

WNU Service, Union Trust Building, Washington, D. C.

Some days ago the British short wave radio, beamed on Germany, was telling the German people, who dared to listen to the forbidden words, that if their armies used gas against the Russians, the British would retaliate and paralyze the German cities with gas bombs from the air. Just about that same hour, I was entering the Army and Navy club in Washington with a short, vigorous, bright-eyed general, whose mental agility makes up for his lack of length. It was no coincidence. I was there to learn something more about chemical warfare and I knew of no better way than to pump Brig. Gen. Alden H. Waitt of the chemical warfare service and whose book "Gas Warfare" has sold out twice in Washington book stores.

There was, however, a coincidence connected with that visit, for as we walked into the great, crowded dining room of the club, Waitt paused to speak to a gray-haired man in civilian clothes with a ribbon in his buttonhole. I recognized a once-familiar figure—Amos Fries, first general of the chemical warfare service. He, of course, is retired now.

I recalled that shortly after the First World War, the activities of General Fries got under some people's skins. He was a hyper-enthusiast over his specialty, and in the reaction against all things military which comes after a war, the cynics used to joke about the stenographer who transcribed her symbols so that a letter was sent addressed to the "comical" warfare service.

But Fries persisted and managed to preserve his unit in a tight little independent group instead of having its activities scattered all over the other services. As far as the public goes, very little attention has been paid to this arm of our military offense and defense. It may, however, become very prominent before the war is over and some people say that day is "imminent."

If gas comes, the United States will be prepared for it. From an organization with 94 officers in the thirties, the chemical warfare service has grown until its officer personnel numbers "many thousand" (I can't reveal the figure) and many of them are with combat troops today where they are responsible for the use of smoke screens and for incendiaries—the fire bombs and the flame throwers.

I have witnessed demonstrations at the Edgewood arsenal near Baltimore, and although I cannot report the details, I can say that some of the effects were remarkable. You ought to see a steel tank or a concrete pillbox go up in flames when it is "lighted" by a flame thrower. It is unbelievable to watch.

There have been, of course, many developments in this little-discussed weapon of warfare since gas was first used in World War I by the Germans and used so successfully by the British and French colonial troops utterly by surprise and caused what amounted to a rout. If the Germans had had the sense to follow it up, they could have broken through the lines and reached Calais.

What about civilians used? In the first place, of course, is in less of Britain because of its geographical out of danger. There has been a contradictory opinion as to the possibility of gas. One view is that it would be ineffective, the other is that populations could be wiped out. Waitt says both are wrong. That there is ground, that gas can be used industrially and politically, is of importance for its demoralizing effect but its targets will be strategic plants and railway stations, power plants and the like. It will wipe out populations, but will not entirely suppress them. But it will be an effective weapon. The most important thing from material means of which Waitt describes education and discipline.

What are the arguments of the use of this weapon, has not been used by Brigadier General "Every sensible man that war should be peaceful when all peaceful policies, a nation has failed. When, in order to but to use force to get should do this with as possible. Not only would little loss to the victor unnecessary loss to the vanquished be avoided. Victory would amount of loss. The loss to both sides, the victory to the victor, the strange doctrine but it is Unusual Outlook

"War," Waitt believes, tried on to kill or destroy to enforce a policy, and the enforcement should be punished without loss of life.

We can work toward the use of gas. He points facts for his argument: 275,000 American casualties. American ranks in the More than one-fourth of by gas. Of the gas casualties about 2 per cent died words, the men wounded about 12 times the time as those wounded by other means.

To urge the use of strange, indeed. I realized I was when a young captain, who had fought most of the campaign Japan, said to me: "Gas weapon." Of course, I met it himself but he had of men blown apart by high explosive and he was alive in his statement.

America Becoming Near-Sighted Nation

There was a time when a man or woman wearing glasses was thought to be a student or one who did a great deal of reading. Glasses were almost a badge of scholarship. It was a rare thing to see a child with glasses and many wearing glasses were doing so to correct a squint or crossed eye.

Within the last 20 years there has been a great increase in the number of men and women wearing glasses and glasses on school children no longer attract attention.

Most of us will likely attribute this increase in the number wearing glasses to the examination of the eyes of school children and to the education by departments of health of the importance of having the vision corrected in those afflicted with shortsightedness, longsightedness and astigmatism (objects not seen distinctly). The last war also taught the value of acquiring proper glasses as many men were rejected for poor eyesight.

However, we learn from the Better Vision institute in one of their monthly releases that America is becoming a nearsighted nation. Every 10 years the figures show that vision is becoming narrower and human eyes, which from the beginning of history had been adapted to far vision, have now their sharpest vision when fixed on near objects not very far from the end of the nose.

What is causing the population to become nearsighted? Some research workers on the eye state that (a) living conditions today finds man looking at "near" objects instead of "far" or distant objects, and (b) nearsightedness seems to be handed down from parents to their children.

Today, education has become almost universal and children start to read at an early age. Occupations are indoors for the most part and modern living conditions require almost continuous close vision.

We should, therefore, be kind to our eyes, and if our eyes need help make sure that they get help, and the right kind of help.

When armored knights met, it was customary for each knight to raise the visor of his helmet as a means of identification. This gesture has come down through all centuries in the form of the salute. Traditional, too, is the Army man's preference for Camel cigarettes. With men in the Army, Navy, Marines, and Coast Guard, actual stories show that Camel is the favorite. A SMARTLY flounced blanket chest with contrasting cushion serves as a convenient seat; and extra covers are right at hand on chilly nights.

Plan the size of your chest to fill your needs and space. It may be made of one-inch pine and should be about 17 inches high without the cushion. Make the flounce with double fullness—that is, twice as long as the space it is to fill after it is gathered. The Fight the Forgery Racket!

By FRANK J. WILSON Chief, United States Secret Service

DO YOU receive checks from the United States government? If you do, then look out for the pen-and-paper pirate—the check forger!

Millions of government checks are sent to dependents of men in the army and navy of the United States. Millions of checks are sent to people who receive social security benefits. Whenever one of these checks is dropped in your mail box by your mail carrier, it presents an opportunity for a check thief to steal it. When that happens, it may be months before the government can send you another check to replace the one which was stolen.

The United States secret service, a branch of the treasury department, wants to put the check thief and the forger out of business. If you will help yourself, you will keep the crook from helping himself to your check.

Put a good lock on your mail box, if it does not already have one. A lock may prevent a loss. Have your name printed clearly on the box.

Youth Took Lesson to Heart With Feet Down!

"Charles," said the sharp-voiced woman to her husband on the train, "don't you remember it was a pair of slippers I presented to you the Christmas before we were married that led to our marriage? You remember how nicely they fitted, don't you? Well, Charles, one day when we were going to a picnic, you had your feet on a seat, and when you weren't looking I took your measure. But for that pair of slippers I don't believe we'd ever been married."

A young man sitting opposite with a girl, immediately removed his feet from the seat.

The smallest member of the United States senate was Georgia's Alexander H. Stevens, later vice president of the Confederacy. He was less than five feet tall and weighed somewhat under 80 pounds.

Hard to Stomach

One day an out-sized western congressman, stung into a fury by the barbed remarks of the little Georgian, shouted: "You! You! Why, I could swallow you and never know I'd eat a thing!"

Replied Senator Stevens: "In that case you'd have more brains in your belly than you ever had in your head."

Exploiters Not Wanted

The mining industry of the United States is so gigantic that it dwarfs imagination. Production of a ton of steel requires two tons of coal. In 1942, it required the coking of 75,000,000 tons of coal to smelt 60,000,000 tons of pig iron. An output of 70,000,000 tons of pig iron and 97,000,000 tons of steel ingots is expected in 1943.

It takes 7 tons of copper for one minute of combat by 50 fighter planes, and this means from 200 to 700 tons of copper ore. Other metals are used in proportions.

But coal is required to produce the heat to make most of them usable. It is the major source of energy in the United States. The railroads used $110,000,000 tons of coal in 1942; public utilities, 68,000,000 tons; and 135,000,000 tons went for necessary heating comfort.

There is no excuse for continuous labor warfare in our coal mines. Neither the public nor the majority of the employers want to exploit the coal miners. The vice that has caused wars for centuries, namely, the greed of a few leaders for unreasonable power, is causing trouble in our coal mines. The few who would exploit a government, a mine or a group of workers for selfish purposes, are the ones who cause the millions of ordinary citizens, including the miners themselves, unnecessary loss, grief and suffering.

It is time that dictatorship in either labor, industry, or government be ended.

Politics vs. The War

When Franklin D. Roosevelt submitted to the "forced draft" in 1940, it was freely forecast that should he be elected, he would again be a candidate for a fourth term.

Now that time has come. The drums are beginning to beat again to win the country to the belief that we have so far deteriorated as a people that there is but one among us qualified to rule. Twice, from the White House steps, New Dealers have told the country in recent weeks that it must be Roosevelt again.

This new campaign must bring two deep emotions into the breasts of Americans:

First, they will regret to see the President, with all of his responsibilities, bringing politics into the war for the next 18 months when victory on the foreign fields rather than at the polls is so important. They would choose to hear the President say that from now until January, 1945, he will devote his full time to winning the war and bringing our boys back home with the least loss of life; and then, with victory won or nearly won he would retire to his own friends, leaving the White House over to the less choice of a free people.

The other emotion must be one of determination to repel the efforts of the President and the New Deal barons to perpetuate themselves in office. Americans will look at the confusion of Washington, the mangled food situation, the three million of unemployed waiting the substance of the nation and interfering with production on the farms and in factories. They will realize that four more years of Roosevelt means four more years of Hopkins, of Henderson, of Wallace and Frankfurter stepping from the Supreme Court bench to give guidance. They will fix the blame where the blame belongs.

All in The Same Boat

The bottom of merchandise sales have no comparison of what the stores have had to struggle with in order to supply their needs. Take the case of a typical country store. The people for miles around depend on that store for their daily necessities. The storekeeper works throughout the day, and then additional hours into the night keeping track of ration stamps, and endless rules and regulations. Almost every move he makes is under threat of fine or jail sentence for a mistake. Thousands of stores are actually going out of business to the real hardship of any communities, simply because the operators cannot stand the strain involved.

Chairman Patman of the House committee on small business, has ordered an investigation into all phases of the issuance of orders and regulations by the OPA. He says: "Conditions are forced upon retailers and wholesalers which do not comply with the provisions of the Emergency Price Control Act."

It is to be sincerely hoped that every effort will be made to lighten or simplify the present complications surrounding retailing—not for the retailers alone, but for the consumer, who is the worst sufferer as thousands of necessary stores are forced out of business due to sheer physical inability to meet the complications of operation.

Memo To Farmers

Some of us can remember when the Department of Agriculture was dedicated to serving the farmer—not destroying him.

And, remembering, it is difficult to believe the concoctions the economic play-boys of the Department today can put together to plague the farmer.

We are indebted to the Washington Times-Herald for turning up this latest plan to re-make America:

"It seems the Bureau of Agricultural Economic wants to make 20 per cent of the rural population of the United States move to cities after the war, whether the ruralites like it or not.

"F. F. Elliot, chief agricultural economist of the department says the plan to cut post-war rural population to 80 per cent of its present level is in the projected revamping of American economy and possibly that of the entire world.

"The outline fits snugly with recurrent reports that the planners have in mind creation of a hugely industrialized United States with Latin America supplying the food."

Elliott tentatively suggests that farm production be maintained "at such levels and in such patterns as to permit adequate diets adapted to the economic resources and food habits of the different income groups.

The blue-print he is drawing up would include an organized market system, controlled presumably by the Government, with fixed prices for the farmer, the marketman, and the consumer.

We hope, of course, our farmer friends will not hear of Dr. Elliott and his plans to move them to the city.

You'll have touring fever. Will you have a car?

Even the wizard auto industry can't switch from arms to autos overnight. After the Axis cracks, much time will pass before designers, engine builders, plastic-makers, accessory plants, glassworks, and the great assembly lines can again bring you a better new car.

Probably you're pining to win yourself peace by setting out as soon as you can for Grand Canyon, perhaps—or for Bigtown or the Coast—for the old folks whom you haven't seen since rationing started. The car that will be ready first—50 chances to 1—is your all-essential present car, encouraged to last its limit by Conoco Nth motor oil... oil that's the foe of engine acids!

War didn't first bring these acids. Ordinary engine combustion has always bottled acids inside, as your engine stopped. When stops were brief and your engine heated up fully on long runs, the acids were not so harmful. But now limited speed, comparative coolness and long lay-ups invite acids to bite hard and corrode metals.

Corrosive air and water, you know, are checked by chromium-plating. And corrosive engine acids are checked by OIL-FLATING, closely deposited on inner parts by patented Conoco Nth oil, with its added modern synthetic inducing a sort of "magnetism." This can long maintain OIL-FLATING on surfaces that you want shielded from acids and depreciation. Don't wait... OIL-FLATE! Get Nth oil at Your Mileage Merchant's Conoco station. MILDRED M. CRAMBLET VISITS HUNTERSVILLE EASTERN STAR LODGE

On Wednesday evening, May 12, Huntersville Chapter, Order of the Eastern Star, was honored with a visit from the Worthy Grand Matron of the Grand Jurisdiction of West Virginia.

Following the inspection of the work of the Chapter by Mrs. Cramblet, a well planned program was enjoyed by the members and visitors from nearby Chapters.

Two presentation ceremonies were used. These had been worked out in poetry by the Worthy Matron, Mrs. C. A. McMillion, and were appropriate in every way for the special occasion of their use.

Mrs. Aubrey Ferguson of Marlinton, sang a solo, accompanied by Mrs. Gordon Mark. Mrs. McMillion gave a reading "Roofs", by Joyce Kilmer. She then invited a number of her officers to assist her in a ceremony in which she presented a gift of money to her Chapter. The check was housed in a miniature temple. This gift enabled the Huntersville Chapter to become 100 per cent paid up in its Temple Fund. The gift was not exposed until it reached the treasurer's desk. S. I. Barlow, Worthy Patron, made the remarks of appreciation for the Chapter and Mrs. McMillion responded with a short poetic composition.

The members and visitors then joined together in singing "Old Kentucky Home", following which Miss Helen Barlow approached the Grand Officer, and read a poem which was composed especially for Mrs. Cramblet. She also presented the guest a miniature log cabin which was symbolic of the picture of Abraham Lincoln on the five-dollar bill inside the cabin. This was a gift to the Grand Visitor from the Chapter.

Immediately following the closing ceremony, bridge tables were set up and a period of recreation was enjoyed. Pencil-paper contests were indulged in and prizes were awarded to the winners.

A delicious salad course was served.

To Our Savings Depositors:

Due to a great reduction in our loans and the decrease in demand for sound loans and the very low yield in Government and other high grade bonds of reasonable maturity, which make desirable bank investments, we have found it necessary to reduce the interest rate on savings deposits to one and one-half (1 1/2%) per cent per annum, effective on JUNE 1, 1943. Our action is in conformity with sound banking practice.

We regret that conditions over which we have no control make necessary this change. The business which you have entrusted to us through the past forty-four years is appreciated, and we invite you to continue to make use of our facilities for all your banking requirements.

War Board Campaign For Increased Food

A plea from Food Administrator Chester C. Davis that farmers in full the acreage they have and to handle under the most favorable circumstances" gave rise to this week to the West Virginia War Board's campaign for increased food production for 1943.

"This is the most important season in American history," the food administrator declared. "We can still increase the number of acres we plant, a few days it will be too late to ask farmers, on their part, to take an extra degree of effort this year for their country."

In view of the record production of livestock and poultry products scheduled this year, the Virginia farmers, the War Board points to Mr. Davis' statement that "extended production of feed grains and hay is vital to us." A tight supply of feed throughout the nation is expected along with corn and wheat in the state which fall in the state production goal.

Conservation Needed to Improve Production, particularly for the improvement of pasture lands, previously indicated by the highest level of food and feed production, the War Board Contour farming and strip cropping must be utilized and reclamation of County AAA agricultural agencies Soil Conservation Service sought.

West Virginia farmers increases in the production of pork, milk, eggs, and other products in 1943. The use of appropriate practices, such as the ground limestone and phosphate, will do much to increase yields of many livestock

How'd you like to carry home 500 POUNDS OF CANDLES!

YOU: What on earth for? What would I do with all those candles?
Why, they'd light your home for a month.
YOU: Light my home? But I've got electricity!
Yes, but if you didn't have it, you'd need about a quarter-ton of candles to do the same job.
YOU: A quarter-ton? That's a lot of candles.
It's a lot of money, too. It would cost you about $200.
YOU: Wow! I couldn't afford that. My monthly electric bill now is only three dollars or so.
Well, that's just about average. But remember that only about 5% of it goes for light. The rest runs your radio and refrigerator—
YOU: Now, electricity's pretty cheap when you come to think of it.
Yes, sir! Cheaper than it's ever been. You're getting about twice as much electricity for your money today as you got fifteen years ago.
YOU: How can that be? My bill hasn't changed.
But think of the appliances you've added. Fifteen years ago, did you have an electric refrigerator?
YOU: No.
Radio? Electric mixer? Electric clock?
YOU: No... . Say, how come I do get more electricity now?
That's easy. Experience—efficiency—sound business methods—
YOU: I don't get it.
It's simple. The electric companies under business management know their job. That job is to give you the best possible service at the lowest possible price. And they're doing it! Today—with many other prices going up—ELECTRICITY IS STILL CHEAP!

HERE'S HOW TO GET YOUR CANNING SUGAR

Persons desiring sugar for home canning and freezing of fruit for home consumption may obtain not more than 15 pounds per person on a quarterly basis...

Not more than 5 pounds of this 15-pound per person limit may be used to put up jams, jellies, preserves and butter.

Applications for sugar for canning shall be made to the local War Price and Rationing Board, in the form of a letter signed by one adult member of a family unit...

Applications whether presented to the local Board in person or by mail shall be received by the Board for processing at a future time.

A permanent amendment will decrease the amount from War Ration Book No. 1 valid for 10 pounds or less, at applicant's option, of sugar for home canning.

The Board will record the number of pounds of sugar granted each person on the cover of his War Ration Book No. 1 and issue Sugar Allowance Coupons in denominations of 1, 2, 3, 4 and 10 pounds for the amount of the allowance.

Each Sugar Allowance Coupon will be marked with the serial number of War Ration Book No. 1 and the book itself must be presented to the retailer for checking when the coupon is "cashed."

CRAPP IS NAMED CHAIRMAN OF FARM SAFETY CAMPAIGN

The first step in the effort to start a farm safety campaign in this county was taken by the county board...

In an atmosphere of general excitement, this was written to a nine-day chapter in the lives of three young Navy aviators who were forced down at the Marlinton airport Sunday a week ago.

Becoming lost, and encumbered by "weatherheads," the Navy fliers landed here, and were then prevented from leaving by heavy rains which left the airport in a boggy condition.

With recent nice weather putting the field in fair shape, the job of preparing for their departure was completed Monday when the airport was rolled with equipment belonging to the State Road Commission.

As word was passed around Tuesday that the ferry pilots were expected to put their huge Curtiss-Wright dive bombers back into the air, a small group went to the local landing field about 10:30 a. m.

Still apprehensive about the possibility of a take-off, the fliers debated about the condition and length of the airport. Finally deciding upon 2 o'clock for the venture, preparations were made to that effect.

At 2 o'clock, the pilots began to warm up the huge engines, and some delay was met when one of them failed to start, and required cranking. Taxiing to the far end of the field, one of the pilots got off the rolled part of the runway and became mired in a swampy place.

Nearly two hours were spent in bringing the bomber out of the mire, necessitating use of the roller, and a school bus as towing power. Then came another period of cranking the stubborn engine which wore out the energy of a number of volunteers before the blade began to turn under its own power.

Many persons left in disappointment, certain that the pilots were doomed to a more extended stay in Marlinton. Shortly after 4 p. m. however, all planes were on solid ground and the giant propellers were making a terrific din.

The crowd became tense as the three pilots ascended to their control seats and adjusted parachutes and other paraphernalia. The pilots, too, had expressed their feeling of nervousness concerning the possibility of forcing the planes up to the required speed of 90 knots which was necessary for a take off for the 7-to-7 planes, on the grass-covered 2,000-foot runway of the strange field.

First to make the attempt was Flight Leader Lane, and cries of "He's going to make it!" arose as his plane sped down the runway. Lane used all the ground available, rising at the end of the field and veering down into the valley toward the town.

His flight was followed immediately by Pilot Welfelt, who thrilled the bystanders to a high pitch when, taking advantage of a favorable gust of wind, he "gave her the gun" and roared into the air, using only about half the available ground space. He attained a high altitude quickly. In a cloud of dust the third aviator, Pilot Pete Wilson, began his dash down the field. It was evident that his plane was not showing the speed of the preceding ones, and onlookers had that "heart-in-your-throat" feeling as they watched him take the air giant down the runway.

U. College of Engineering Accelerates Program

The West Virginia University College of Engineering has just announced an accelerated program in which the beginning date of September 13, 1943, has been advanced to May 31, 1943.

Under the new plan students entering the first of June will complete the regular four-year course of eight semesters by February, 1946, thus saving nearly a year and a half of time.

Dean R. P. Davis of the College of Engineering urges all high school graduates who are planning to enter the College of Engineering this fall to enroll on May 31 to start their freshman first semester's work.

T. D. Gray Returns To Extension Service Staff

T. D. Gray, former Extension landscape architect of West Virginia University, and for the last two years Director of Conservation for West Virginia, has returned to the University as Extension horticulturist in vegetable gardening, it has been announced by J. O. Knapp, director of the Extension Service.

In his new position, Gray will work closely with the state's Victory Garden program, seeking to encourage West Virginia's estimated 200,000 Victory gardeners to follow through on their plans to produce much of their wartime food needs and to properly store, can, and preserve the surplus for next winter.

He will work with county agricultural agents and Extension Service representatives throughout the state in coordinating various phases of the Victory Garden program and will cooperate with the various county Victory Garden chairmen in carrying the individual county plans to completion.

The Extension landscape program, which has not been carried on since Gray took the post of state director of conservation, will be held in abeyance until the end of the war, Mr. Knapp says.

Zed Smith In Action In New Guinea Area

(From Charleston Daily Mail)

GEN. MacARTHUR'S HEADQUARTERS, Australia (UP)—The New Guinea campaign broadened today into a land-air battle with both the Allies and the Japanese throwing strong aerial punches in the fight for the Mubo-Calamaua area.

In an effort to cripple Japanese air strength, three flights of Allied planes attacked the enemy airbase at Lae, key base on Huon gulf above Samamaua, a communique reported.

The attacks occurred Saturday, coincident with heavy raids by almost 100 enemy planes on Allied positions at Wau and Bobdubi.

Heavy planes, meanwhile, blasted at Rabaul, New Britain, airbase and single planes bombed Gasmata and Cape Gloucester, both on New Britain, and Kavieng, New Ireland, all of which have airbases from which New Guinea can be reached.

The communique did not mention the ground fighting. Last reports indicated the battle—involving small units of both sides in the toughest kind of jungle country—was bitter.

Zed Smith, of Marlinton, W. Va., has made five missions since he got here a week ago—in one of which his gunner, Tech. Sgt. William Marshall, of Los Angeles, shot down a Zero.

Uncle "Pud" Tucker

— Says — By HOY McCUSKEY

MAKE HIM SAY "UNCLE!"

"Perhaps you don't know me," as Eve coyly remarked to Adam, so I'm going to take advantage of good nature and introduce myself. I'm Pud Tucker, a sidewalk General of the home town Marlinton. Since a million or less other S. W. Generals have told the dear public how and where this war would end, I'm going to risk my number seventeen stamp on the following:

IT Impresses ME

THAT a good start for this week's Impressions would be an account of the journey of this editor, in company with my friends Cal Price and Harper Smith, to the beautiful environs of Watoga State Park, to hobnob for an evening with visiting celebrities to our inviting county...

On the generous invitation of "Sj" Wills, member of the Conservation Commission staff, we were privileged to meet the renowned Grantland Rice, the nation's ace sports writer and film-master of the "Spotlight," viewed on screens throughout the country; Bobby Cruickshank, famous Scottish golf professional, who shepherds the flock of beginners and others at the Country Club of Virginia, down at Richmond, between matches with other top-notchers for national honors; and Harold Ross, editor of the New Yorker Magazine, who with Mrs. Ross and the others were guests of L. A. Cohen, head of a squad of Merchant Police in Charleston...

That the group had imbibed of the spirit of freedom which is an attribute of our mountain territory, there could be no doubt... No one was standing on ceremony of any sort, and the members of our little group were greeted as though we were all friends of long standing...

Cal Price and "Grantie" spent most of the evening with arms around each other's shoulders in the true spirit of communion which probably exists when one dignitary meets another... and the long reel of colored motion picture film which Host Cohen was shooting on the trip will, (if it isn't cut), show the outstanding reporter in company with a couple of country editors and a member of the banking profession, which is probably questionable company to have foisted upon one when there's no place to take to except the hills, and when one is a bit too tired to climb... Unfortunately, most of the big trout in our streams seemed to elude the wiles of these outsiders, although there was a report current that they had caught a few, and that Rice had a 26-inch which he was going to present to Governor Neely the next day...

but I must be truthful enough to say that I didn't see it... Ross' run of luck is said to have been such that he stomped into a state of unfitness a new rod with which he was casting when others around him drew in their catches, and none of the lowly fish responded to his willing advances... Cruickshank was an amazing example of ceaseless energy and vitality; he came in from the day's trek with all the activity of a speck of dust in a windstorm, giving action readings of amorous Scottish shepherds, singing about a "Bonnie Lassie," and quoting Bobby Burns' untranslatable poetry in a Scotch brogue which was also understandable... All in all, I think that our party was extremely glad of the invitation to visit with the notables and the several likable representatives of the Commission... we shall undoubtedly remember it for a long time to come... And I feel safe in predicting that, even if the notables do not remember us, they too will remember their visit to beautiful Watoga in the mountains of Pocahontas...

Rice, because it was here that he suffered the affliction of getting a gnat in his eye... Cruickshank, because of a certain "difficult situation" which was imposed upon him... Ross, because he had to wait so long for his supper... Cohen, because it gave him another opportunity to bring big-name people into the state... and the Commission men, because they found this sort of "pleasure" trip much harder than working...

★ THAT the small-world item in connection with the above incident was the discovery that this editor, in his varied past, had once worked for the same "boss" for whom Grantland Rice and Harold Ross had once worked (though Ross says the "boss" fired Rice)... a rather excitable and pugnacious individual named Guy T. Viskiski... who, when we knew him, certainly kept things in a hum, and who, when he couldn't go himself would send a dynamic note signed "G. T. V."... And another thing, is that the dinner which was served to all the guests by Mr. and Mrs. Ed Tucker was the kind which comes under the headings of both "delicious" and "refreshing"... and we think they handled the whole affair in a rather grand style...

Allied Generalship, Planes and Guns Decisive Factor in Tunisia Windup; Farm Situation Improves, Davis Says; Red Drive Perils Nazi Caucasus Hold

TUNISIA: Master Generalship

Axis resistance in Tunisia had steadily crumbled as the Allied armies moved inexorably toward their goals. As American artillery pounded the Bizerte harbor area setting fire to wharves and docking facilities, the British First Army had swept over the Tunisian plains leading to the capital city of Tunis.

The moves on Bizerte had been expedited by the capture by American and French forces of hilly strongholds protecting Lake Achkel and Lake Bizerte. In mopping up operations in the Mediterranean coastal region the Allies had continued to capture numerous prisoners.

In analyzing the results of the successful offensive, observers credited master Allied generalship with outmaneuvering the Axis. The Allied high command had led the enemy to believe that the principal blows would be struck by General Montgomery's British Eighth Army from the south.

Europe Drive 'Sure' More Power for WLB

Congress moved swiftly to strengthen the government's hand in dealing with strikes. First step was the senate's over-riding enactment of legislation empowering the government to take over plants in which war production is stopped by labor disputes and making it a crime to instigate a strike in war plants or mines which have been taken over by the government.

RUSSIA: Nazi Setbacks

Hammering at the northeast approaches to Nazi-held Novorossisk, Russian forces had captured numerous towns, including Krymskaya and killed 10,000 German troops in a smash through the Kuban delta bulge of the Caucasus toward the Black sea.

Although the Axis forces were weakened by the break-through, Hitler had been preparing for weeks for action by bringing up fresh troops, tanks and munitions.

The capture of Krymskaya had two strategic benefits. It placed the Red Army in a position to seriously menace Novorossisk and it enabled the Russians to cut the German-held railroad between Novorossisk and Protoka, 36 miles northeast of the port.

Significant was a Soviet report announcing the presence of powerful Russian naval units in the Black sea, led by the flagship "Paris Commune." This sea force was awaiting an opportunity to pounce on any German attempt to evacuate troops from the Caucasus.

FARM PROSPECTS: Situation Improves

Heartening tidings that the farm labor, equipment and supply situations are showing "improved promise" were heralded by Chester C. Davis, food administrator.

"A current appraisal of the farm labor situation," he declared in a letter to James F. Byrnes, economic stabilization director, "indicates that there is an available labor supply sufficient to produce and harvest a 1943 crop up to the levels of the announced goals."

While not entirely satisfactory, Mr. Davis said, the farm machinery and supply situation for 1943 recently has been improved. He revealed that the War Production board has agreed to permit an increase in farm machinery production from 23 to 40 per cent of the 1940 level and an increase in repair parts to 160 per cent of the 1940-41 average.

COAL: Take and Give

Reversing the procedure of "give and take," Fuel Administrator Harold L. Ickes announced a new "take and give" policy as an insurance against any new coal emergency.

The action was taken at a time when coal miners of the nation were at work on a 15-day truce before final settlement of wage demands had been made.

Mr. Ickes issued regulations setting up procedure under which he could act to prevent war plants and essential civilian uses from short-ages, regardless of whether they come from a work stoppage in mines, faulty distribution or other causes.

CONTROVERSY: Russ Add New Fuel

More fuel was added to the flaming Russo-Polish controversy when the Soviet foreign office charged that cabinet officers of the Polish government-in-exile had engaged in espionage activities against Russia.

To this charge the Reds added the further allegation that the Polish government had refused to permit use of Russian-trained Polish troops on the Soviet front.

United Nations' chancelleries had previously been heartened over the prospects of a resumption in Russo-Polish relations when Premier Josef Stalin had advocated the establishment of a strong and independent Polish state after the war and suggested a Polish-Russian pact directed against Germany.

DRAFT: Fathers by August

Nation-wide induction of fathers into the armed forces will be started by August "if not sooner," Maj. Gen. Lewis B. Hershey announced. In a subsequent move Selective Service headquarters issued instructions under which fathers in 35 listed essential industries may be given essential deferment.

Observers believed that the new order indicated that the ban against the induction of fathers soon would be lifted.

Under the new instructions to local draft boards, care will be taken to keep fathers in essential occupations out of the armed forces until fathers working in less essential jobs have been inducted.

PACIFIC: U. S. Air Upsurge

Surging American air strength took its toll of the Japs in widely separated actions on the far-flung Pacific front.

In the foggy Aleutians off the North American mainland American bombers kept up their incessant aerial pounding that has prevented the enemy from completing the airfield that has been under construction for several months on Kiska island.

Reporting an action of tremendous implications because it showed that heavy reinforcements had reached the U. S. air forces in China and that enemy bases near to Japan were now being laid open to our attacks, Lieut. Gen. Joseph Stilwell's headquarters in China reported that newly arrived four-engine Liberator bombers had "pretty nearly wiped out" a Jap airport on the southern end of Hainan island.

From American army headquarters in New Delhi, India, came the announcement that U. S. heavy bombers had dropped more than 30 tons of bombs on Japanese installations in Toungoo, Burma, in the Mandalay area, blasting the enemy headquarters there and causing severe damage to other buildings.

In the Solomon Islands American planes continued their attacks on Jap positions, raiding Vangavanga and Ringi Cove on the island of Kolombangara, as well as Ritaka Bay and Kila.

ALIEN BUSINESS: Now in U. S. Hands

The United States has thrown back the economic invasion launched nearly a quarter of a century ago by the aggressor nations with whom we are now at war, the Office of War Information announced in making public figures showing that $7,000,000,000 in assets of enemy and enemy-occupied countries are now under control of the alien property custodian.

"Every company in which Nazi influence was known to exist has been Americanized," the OWI said. "These companies are now giving valuable support to the war and are playing an important part in helping the nation meet its production goals."

More than 2,000 such business firms are operating under licenses from the treasury department. A total of 41,577 patents and pending patent applications owned by enemy nationals are now under control of the alien property custodian.

FEDERAL PAY: Up for Workers

The House completed action on legislation previously adopted by the senate, raising the pay of federal employees who make less than $10,000 a year.

The bill provides a flat $200 increase yearly for workers in the lowest salary brackets in the executive departments, whose pay had not been brought to that level by a previous 15 per cent raise based on increasing the regular work week from 40 to 42 hours.

BUYING BONDS THE 'EASY' WAY

THIRTEEN BILLION DOLLARS worth of bonds, which Uncle Sam asked us to buy during the Second War Loan drive, and which we did buy, is a lot of money.

John is working in a war industry plant. His wages amount to $50 a week. Each Saturday night, at his request, a $5 bill is withheld from his pay envelope to apply on his war bond purchase.

John's weekly pay is but a portion of an ever-revolving fund. Week by week it is paid to the government and again paid out to those producing what we must have to win the war.

CAPITAL NECESSARY TO KEEP LABOR AT WORK

BILL JONES has a job. That job provides food, clothing, shelter, a car, tickets for the movies, and other luxuries, as well as essentials for Bill and his family.

For each man who has a job in an American factory, there is an average of $8,000 invested in the tools and buildings which make a job possible.

That is what we are doing right now. The war will be over some day and then new tools must be provided to replace those used in war production.

LABOR MONOPOLY AND GOVERNMENT

A BILL that would curb some of the more atrocious activities of the labor racketeers was introduced in the Colorado legislature. The bill, if enacted into law, will give union members control of their own organization by forcing regular elections of union officers by secret ballot, as well as forcing union officials to account for union receipts and expenditures, and calling for a secret ballot of members before a strike can be called.

TOP-HEAVY BUREAUS IN GOVERNMENT

DEBT LIMIT AND THE FAMILY

CONGRESS RAISED the federal debt limit to 210 billion dollars and it will reach that point by the end of this year.

Washington Digest Air Corps Cuts Red Tape With Absorption of CAP

Student Pilots of Civil Air Patrol Are Vital Link In Nation's Defense Chain; Valued Services Now Recognized.

By BAUKHAGE News Analyst and Commentator.

WNU Service, Union Trust Building, Washington, D. C.

As the tempo of American activity on the foreign fronts moves with an accelerated beat, it is pleasing to note that a lot of red tape in Washington is being rolled up and chucked into official wastebaskets.

When war comes, there is always a sharp cross current of human emotions—the good old one of self-preservation, and the equally old and much better one, from the standpoint of the nation, of patriotism.

Red tape is the answer. But red tape is bound to tangle any herculean effort when a peaceful nation turns into a belligerent.

Drab Duties

The latest step in removing the red tape that was holding back a lot of valuable human power was the absorption of the Civil Air Patrol by the air corps.

Another important step forward is also under way which will bring that group of unselfish young men into active service after months of morale-breaking waiting—I refer to the Civilian Pilot trainees, most of whom are now sure of active duty as instructors or flying cadets.

Few people in the country outside of the families of the members are familiar with either the Civil Air Patrol, the student pilots of the War Training program or even that other group of a million and a half volunteers who make up the aircraft warning service.

The Civil Air Patrol received some publicity for its important part in offshore duty in the campaign which stopped the submarine activities off the eastern coast of the United States.

They are a vital link in that chain of air and surface guardians who watched our waters from Maine to Florida. They could spot a sub, immediately report it to the nearest bomber or a fast coast guard or naval vessel.

Civil Air Patrol did invaluable but less romantic service in carrying vital machine parts between factories. It is now possible that some of these men and women in the interior of the country who have been making uninteresting overland flights from here to there may get a whiff of sea air, too.

If not technically, at least practically, "they're in the army now." As to the boys in the CAP war training program, who have been warming benches and waiting at nothing per diem, a bill in congress is about to give them pay as reservists and as soon as equipment enough to accommodate all of them, those unqualified cadet combat trainers will have jobs as instructors of pilots soon.

Status Unchanged

The last named group, the spotters, operate under the Command, and their function is such that their status will not be changed, they are a part of the Civilian Defense.

This group is made up of volunteer workers working with force experts, in connection with vast network of telephone connections which lace the coastline, east, south and west.

Here dozens of girls wear gigantic table map of the war wear telephone headsets and pieces like a regular telephone, listening to the spotter and moving little markers "pips," representing planes on the map with long wires.

The spotter out on top of building or hilltop sees a plane message comes in on the "Bomber on high west 20." The girl puts the pip on the map corresponding to the report. The details of location and description of plane are noted on a marker on the plane.

Method of Operation

After the third report, watching the board from above, reports it to the room, which may be in same here again, the planes are Army men and Civil Air Patrol. Administration officials continuously receiving information every plane leaving the check this information with below them. Every plane accounted for. If not— I, if we live in that vicinity about it—the air raid flashed. If the fierer ground without clearance of some mistake hasn't alerted self, he is likely to see a big after him or he might duck anti-aircraft fire.

About Nutrition

I received the following a listener in Miami, Fla. "Those who know will be the introduction of synthetic vitamins are not allowed in Britain will not allow it. Food Act boys know it just look it up and laugh. They are not born today, they are propaganda and high-venturing."

I called up the Food Administration ("Pure Food Commissioner Campbell") "So far as the synthetic vitamins are effective as natural vitamins have been shown by extensive experimentation." Before the order was rich white flour with vitamins, lengthy testimony by leading nutritionists men with no axes to grind. My listener was sincere. He was sincere of his misinformation. I wonder who started it.

A man said to a waiter at a restaurant: "I'm going to get another cup of coffee." said the girl. "We'll get you a cup of coffee." The waitress did, he dumped its contents on the floor. There was his coffee. It was perfectly legal, it seems like a lot of things.
